THE LOUISIANA LOTTERY.

It Proposes to Move its Headquarters to Mexico.

The Business to be Enlarged and Extended in Many Ways.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—A despatch to the Globe from New Orleans says that the secret of the withdrawal of the Louisiana State Lottery is out. It will be removed to Mexico in 1893. President Diaz has already expressed himself as favorable to the proposition, provided the Louisiana State Lottery will make as favorable a proposition to the Mexican government as was made to the state of Louisiana. John A. Morris, one of the principal owners of the lottery, and his assistants have made heavy investments in real estate in the City of Mexico recently, and it is understood that they already discussed the project of purchasing from the Mexican government the fortress of Chapultepec, for the future headquarters of the new Mexican lottery.

ABANDONED AT SEA.

Brig Annie R. Storer Springs A leak.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Steamship Orinico, from Bermuda, landed at this port today. Captain Richardson and the crew of American brig Annie R. Storer, wrecked and abandoned at sea on February 1. The Storer sailed on January 17 from Philadelphia for Havana with coal. She had a crew of about twenty men immediately on leaving Philadelphia January 17 she ran into severe weather, which developed into a northerly gale, shifting to the northwest at times but never diminishing in fury during the last two weeks of January. The Storer plunged about in a frightful manner all the time, and soon her seams parted from the strain. She began to leak and her crew were kept constantly at the pumps, but with little good effect. On January 31 Captain Richardson decided that he was imperilling his own life and the lives of his crew by remaining by the ship and determined to abandon her at the first opportunity. On the following day Norwegian bark Isplovin approached the brig, attracted by her signals of distress. The Isplovon stood by the wrecked vessel and succeeded after considerable difficulty in transferring all her crew. She landed them at Bermuda. The brig was abandoned in lat. 31 10 N., long. 71 42 W., and was afloat when last seen by her crew. The Storer was built in 1869 at Waldoboro, Me., and was owned by W. H. Jordan of Portland, Me.

For Popular Elections of Senators.

WASHINGTON, Feb 15.—The House committee on the election of President and Vice Presidentnad representatives in Congress today agreed to report a bill leaving the election of Senators to the people and conferring exclusive power on the state legislatures to fix the time, place and manner of holding such elections.

The New Postmaster of East Greenwich.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The President sent to the Senate today the name of J. C. Reeve to be postmaster of East Greenwich, R. I.

The Pall Mall Gazette in Minister Egan's Defense.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The Pall Mall Gazette today publishes a long letter in defense of Mr. Egan, the United States minister to Chili. The letter was sent from Valparaiso by "an Englishman and conservative."

Fatally Injured by an Engine.

BOSTON, Feb. 15.—Richard Egan, aged twenty-three, employed as a car washer in the Lowell depot, was struck by an engine that was backing out of the station and fatally injured.

THE SILVER MEN.

A Majority of the House Democrats Sign the Petition.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The silver men have secured upwards of one hundred and twenty Democratic signatures to their petition asking that the rules committee bring in a special order for the silver bills. There are 228 Democrats in the House so that the silver men, have secured a majority. They say they have received the assurances of members of the rules committee that they would do what was shown to be the will of a majority of the Democrats in the House, but it is not likely that the committee will meet for some days, as the speaker is sick and Mr. Catchings is absent from the city. It is probable a special order on the tariff will be brought in at practically the same time as the order relative to silver.

A NEW RAILROAD LINE.

Attleboro and Boston Connected by the Walpole Branch.

BOSTON, Feb. 15.—The new Walpole and Wrentham line of the Old Colony railroad was opened for traffic this morning; the first train leaving the Park Square station at 5.55 o'clock and reaching Walpole at 6.37. The first through train over this line left Attleboro for Boston at 7.59 and arrived on time. The new line from Boston to Attleboro is 36.60 miles in length; from Norwood Junction to North Attleboro, 18¼ miles, the road is wholly new. There are eight new stations on the line, East Walpole, Walpole Centre, Poudville, Wrentham, Wampum, Plainville, North Attleboro (High street) and Chestnut street. The new line opens up new territory and has already advanced the values of real estate.

TYPHUS IN CHICAGO.

A Veritable Pest House Discovered in a Tenement District.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—A veritable pest house was discovered last night by the police who succeeded in running down seven of the nine Italians who arrived on the typhus-fever-infected steamer Massali from Palermo, reaching New York January 30. The unfortunate Italians were discovered in a crowded tenement house at Eighty-first and Lime streets, close beside the Western Indiana railroad tracks, and only a stone's throw from the thickly settled district around the Weber and Abbott carriage factories in Auburn Park. None appeared to be seriously ill and the officers allowed them to remain until the health department were notified this morning. Two other passengers on the infected steamer are known to be in Chicago and are supposed to have located on Milwaukee avenue, but no trace of them can be found.

ATTACKED BY WILD DOGS.

A Kansas Man and Child Killed by the Furious Animals.

WICHITA, Kansas, Feb 15.—The wild dogs, which have invaded the northwestern corner of the state from Colorado, have become peculiarly fierce since the recent heavy fall of snow. They have attacked human beings before, but actual deaths from their attacks were never authenticated until Saturday night when John J. Pratt and his young child were run down by a pack and torn into pieces about a mile from their home in Sherman county. Pratt and the girl started to drive home about 6 o'clock, but never reached there until their mutilated remains were carried in yesterday. The overturned wagon, dead and mangled horses and the bodies of dogs killed by bullets from Pratt's revolver told of the story of the chase and the futile fight for life.

A COLD WAVE.

More Icy Weather Strikes the Northwest.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 15.—The expected cold wave has swooped down upon Minnesota, and last night was the most trying one of the winter in this city, the mercury being nineteen degrees below zero with a brisk northwest wind. All over the Northwest, clear up to Medicine Hat and Qu'Appelle, the cold is still intense.

Quarantining Russian Hebrews.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Steamboat Rosa left Quarantine at noon with the cabin passengers of steamer Russia, which arrived at Sandy Hook last night. The Russia is from Hamburg, January 24, and Havre, 25th. She is still held at Quarantine. The three hundred and twenty Russian Jews among her steerage passengers will be kept on Hoffman Island twenty-one days.

Slipped on the Platform and Died Instantly.

FRANKLIN, Mass., Feb. 15.—Samuel E. Gay, a man over 70 years of age, slipped at the railroad station last night and falling on the platform died instantly.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.

House.

The House today was called to order by Clerk Kerr, who read a communication from the speaker designating Mr. McMillin of Tennessee as speaker pro tem.

A resolution was adopted directing the committee on agriculture to investigate the effect of the McKinley bill on the agricultural interests of the country.

A bill appropriating $15,000,000 for the improvement of the Mississippi river from the passes to the mouth of the Illinois river was reported and placed on the calendar.

Under suspension of the rules the House has passed a bill to establish lineal promotion in the army.

THE WOOL BILL.

The Committee Ready to Present it to the House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The Democratic members of the ways and means committee held another conference today at which an agreement was reached on the wool bill. It is possible a meeting of the full committee will be called for tomorrow at which the bill will be submitted. No change was made from the agreement reached Saturday. The paragraph relating to shoddy, which was the only one unconsidered at Saturday's conference, was taken up and the duty was fixed at 25 per cent. ad-valorem, Mr. Springer's bill having placed it at 30 per cent. The present duty on shoddy is 30 cents per pound. It is the intention of the Democratic members of the committee to get the bill into the House as soon as possible.

The Democrats of the ways and means committee today to report a bill placing upon the free list "all binding twine manufactured in whole or in part from Istle or Tampico fibre, jute manila, sisal grass or sunn." The original bill upon this subject was introduced by Representative Bryan of Nebraska, and this gentleman was the chairman of the subcommittee which prepared the committee bill today agreed upon and which is worded as above. The Democrats also agreed to report favorably the bill of Representative Turner of Georgia, placing upon the free list cotton ties, cotton bagging and machinery for making cotton bagging.

CHINESE EXCLUSION.

Favorable Report on the Geary Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The Geary anti-Chinese bill, to absolutely prohibit the coming of Chinese into the United States, was today ordered favorably reported to the House by a majority of the foreign affairs committee. Mr. Geary will make the majority report and will be opposed by a minority led by Mr. Hooker of Massachusetts. Messrs. Hitt of Illinois and Andrew of Massachusetts will also sign the minority report.

THE WHEELMEN.

Annual Convention of the National League at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 15.—The annual convention of the National League of American Wheelmen was called to order at 11.15 o'clock this morning by President James R. Dunn whose resignation, submitted some time ago, was immediately accepted at his suggestion, to take effect after this meeting. There were ninety-one delegates present, eighty-six being represented by proxies.

At a caucus last night the following ticket was nominated:—For president—Charles L. Burnett of Hartford County; for first vice president—T. F. Sheridan of Springfield, Ill.; for second vice president—Dr. George C. Brown of Elizabeth, N. J.; for treasurer—William Webster of Quincy, Ill.

Small Pox and Typhus Fever in Mexico

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Mexican advices received here state that a plague of small pox and typhus fever is raging in the eastern district of the republic, and that many deaths have occurred.

The Salary of the Governor of Massachusetts.

BOSTON, Feb. 15.—Governor Russell send a message to the legislature this afternoon, stating that he will sign a bill raising the governor's salary to $10,000, provided the bill goes into effect next year.

Listed on the Boston Exchange.

BOSTON, Feb. 15.—The governing committee of the Boston Stock Exchange has placed on the list the trust company's receipts for stock deposited of the Thomson-Houston common and preferred.

Four More Cases of Typhus Fever in New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Four new cases of typhus fever were discovered here today, two at No. 5 Essex street and two at No. 32 Hester street. One of the victims is a woman and the other three children. They are Russian Hebrews and were taken to North Brothers Island. No deaths have yet occurred among the patients on the island, though several of them are very low.

Missing for Three Weeks.

BOSTON, Feb. 15.—Stillman W. Edgell of Waltham, doorkeeper of the senate, left the State House three weeks ago yesterday and nothing has been heard of him since. He had been a sufferer from nervous dyspepsia for some years and had an attack of the grip about three weeks ago. He was a war veteran and had lost an arm. He has been employed at the State House for the past twenty-eight years.

A Land Leaguer Released from Prison in County Mayo, Ireland.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Among the prisoners who were convicted eight years ago at the Cork assises for complicity in the Cross Molina, County Mayo, murder conspiracy, was a prominent member of the Land League, named Macauley. He was sentenced to a term of imprisonment that would have expired in 1894, but today, by order of the government, he was released. At the time Macauley was tried five others, including Thomas Daley, were convicted of the same offense and each received a similar sentence. The only one now in prison is Daly.

THE SILVER BILL.

A Colorado Paper's Scream in its Behalf.

DENVER, Col., Feb. 15.—Under the heading of "the silver bill," the Rocky Mountain News says editorially today:—"The House of Representatives will soon be brought face to face with the problem of free silver coinage. The bill to enact has been reported from the coinage committee and placed upon the House calendar and today the majority report of the committee recommending its passage will be printed by Mr. Bland, the committee's chairman. Reading the synopsis of this report, as sent out by the associated press, the impression is made that silver's opponents will have a rocky road to travel in overcoming its logic. It shows the bill to have been carefully and wisely framed, and that its provisions are such that none of the calamities predicted by single-standard advocates as surely consequent upon the enactment of a free coinage law can possibly occur. The report makes very plain that 'the dump of silver' into the United States, if free coinage is adopted, is a ghost of the gold bugs to frighten the ignorant. Under the law, as it is framed, should the foreigner bring over his shipload of silver, he can get only silver dollars or "coin" notes in return, and the government would redeem his coin notes in silver dollars; he would not compel any unwilling person to exchange gold dollars for his silver dollars so the importers of the mythical shiploads of silver after he got them here would be compelled to either ship it back—losing the cost of carriage, insurance, etc.—or to invest in our railroads or other industries of America thus adding to our property, a result the average bullion owner of Europe would not be willing to encounter. In addition to this there is no surplus silver anywhere in Europe to be shipped to this country, as Secretary Windom [illegible] ally established in his official report to Congress for the year 1889. The measure is in all respects an admirable one. It has been framed with the skill of veteran financiers and no substantial grounds of ejection seems to have been left for the most hypocritical English standard financier to stand upon. Now let Bland push the measure to discussion and an early vote, that it may go to the Senate in time for action by that body and presentation to the President before either of the national conventions meet. If this is done even President Harrison may feel himself impelled to sign the bill."

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

What Foreign Governments are Doing in the Matter.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The Japanese Parliament has voted half a million yen ($500,000) to enable Japan to take part in the World's Fair.

LISBON, Feb. 15.—In consequence of the financial crisis, Portugal will not take part in the World's Fair at Chicago.

PARIS, Feb. 15.—The Liberte after commenting on the action of the Chamber of Commerce of this city in regard to the Chicago fair says:—"America has been promising France for the past thirty-seven years to unify state legislation on the possession of property by foreigners, but nothing has yet been done. Frenchmen cannot trust to the variable opinions of American attorneys general or to hypothetical equity of the supreme court."

INDIAN SOLDIERS.

The Most Practical Solution of the Indian Problem.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—Captain W. L. Pilcher, of the Eighth United States infantry, is in town. The captain is stationed at Fort Washaki, Wyoming, one of the most inaccessible regions of Wyoming, one hundred and sixty miles from a railroad station. Speaking of Secretary Proctor's Indian soldier scheme, he said it was a grand one and the only solution of the Indian question. The first regular company of Indians was established in his regiment and consisted of sixty Shoshones and Arapahoes. "Of course," said he, "I cannot tell how they would perform in actual service, but in everything else they make splendid soldiers. They are taken into the service on the same footing as the white men. The great difficulty is in teaching them English but several of the soldiers understand the sign language and so can get along very well. The Indians are proud of their position and vie with each other in keeping their uniforms and arms in good condition."

Unusual Hands at Whist.

WORCESTER, Mass., Feb. 15.—The Gazette publishes today sworn statements of four Boston & Albany conductors that on January 28, the cards having been properly shuffled, cut and dealt for whist by one of their number, the hands were found to contain each the whole of one suit. Moreover that there was no trickery or previous arrangement of the cards.

St. Patrick's Day in Fall River.

FALL RIVER, Feb 15.—At a convention of Irish and Catholic societies held here last evening it was voted to celebrate St. Patrick's day (March 17) by a parade through the principal streets.

Will Allow the Body to be Buried.

MALDEN, Mass., Feb. 15.—John Bailey, whose wife died twelve days ago and who refused to allow the burial of the body, has finally consented to have it placed in the receiving tomb in Woodlawn Cemetery this afternoon. Bailey and his wife were spiritualists. He has been waiting for his wife's spirit to communicate with him but it has not been heard from.

Fire Insurance.

In these days when the stability of insurance companies is to be tested to the utmost, and many of the weaklings are pretty sure to go out of existence, it is well to patronize only the strongest and the best. The following facts are worth considering:—

The Insurance Company of North America is the oldest in the country, having begun business in the last century. Its total assets according to the last official report were $8,951,518.

The Ætna Insurance Company of Hartford is known throughout the whole country. It has the largest capital and surplus of any company in America and has paid more than $60,000,000 in losses. Total assets, $10,557,497.

The Hartford Insurance Company is the pioneer of the great institutions of that insurance city, and with one exception is next in the amount of its capital and surplus to those already named. Total assets, $6,575,616.

The Royal of England is one of the strongest companies in the world and has assets in America amounting to $6,973,780.

In addition to these, the following companies, all strictly first-class, are represented at this agency. It will be seen that there is not one among them of the smaller and weaker corporations.

Pennsylvania,	$3,485,310
Connecticut,	2,500,392
Orient of Hartford,	1,077,461
Norwich Union,	1,792,584
Westchester,	1,640,088
Merchants,	1,600,449

Under the present system of rating it costs no more to insure in the best than in the poorest companies. Policies issued and losses adjusted at the Newport office.

MR. BLAND'S REPORT.

Substance of the Silver Bill Submitted to the House.

Arguments Which He Thinks Will Carry Free Coinage to the Front.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The report of the majority of the committee on coinage, weights and measures, recommending the passage of the Bland free coinage bill, was presented to the house today by Mr. Bland.

The report is long and carefully prepared. It discusses the various objections made against free coinage, showing where, in the opinion of the majority, those objections are ill-founded, and how free coinage of silver would greatly benefit this country, and especially the producers. After explaining the provisions of the bill the report refers to the warning that free coinage would cause shiploads of silver from other countries to be brought here and dumped at our mints in exchange for our gold.

The report declares that the shiploads of silver brought to our mints by the foreigner would, under the proposed law, be coined into standard dollars, and these dollars returned to him, but he must not go to our treasury and demand gold for them. Nor could he compel one of our citizens to swap a gold dollar for a silver dollar. Should the foreigner take coin notes for bullion, he can take his coin note to the treasury and demand redemption, but the secretary of the treasury could hand him back the coin struck from his shipload of bullion. The foreigner then would ascertain that he had in bringing silver to our mints when it is worth 3 cents on the dollar less that it was at home. He must then invest his money here, or go home with it. He could not buy gold with it, or gold exchange, unless gold and silver were at par; in this case there could be no reason for preferring the one metal to the other.

If gold went to a premium he would have to pay the premium on his exchange, thus entailing additional loss in his enterprise of sending us shiploads of silver. If he invests his money in our property and business enterprises it will stimulate industries, awaken enterprises and give us a healthy business and sound currency. Every shipload of silver brought here and invested would bring unexampled prosperity to this country while panics would occur in the Old World. Business there would be paralyzed for want of money. This would force shiploads of people to this country from abroad in search of their lost shiploads of money. The nations of the Old World, however, are aware of this and would see to it that no such thing occurred. The report then quotes from Secretary Windom's report for 1889, in which he took the position that no danger need be apprehended of a Flood of European Silver.

The secretary said there was no known accumulation of silver bullion anywhere in the world, and the stock of silver coin in Europe was needed for business purposes.

The majority report says that the conspiracy formed in the Old World, and successfully carried through there and here, was aimed to confine the debt-paying mediums of the nations concerned to the single metal, gold. Gold was decreed to rapidly rise in value, thus adding 50 per cent. to the value of credits and enormously depressing the value of labor and the products of labor. The promoters of this conspiracy and the beneficiaries, says the report, know that when this great government throws its weight in the silver balance the world will again be restored to full faith and confidence in the future safety of our silver as the money of the world. The old parity of the two metals will return.

The report refers to the statement that we give the miners at our mint $1 for bullion that costs only 41 cents, and remarks that we often coin the gold miners' product that cost but $4 into money amounting to $100. But, the report maintains, there is to estimate the cost that the mining of our precious metals has, one way or another, entailed. Regarding the assertion that, in case free coinage is brought about, our gold will flee this country at once, contracting our currency to the amount of $686,000,000, the report states that official reports show a total of gold in treasury and in banks of only $375,102,554, while the remainder of the estimate of $686,000,000 is mere guess work.

The report declares that a return to the coinage of both metals on equal terms may cause some apprehension and probably a disposition to hoard gold. Yet it says that any evils that may result must be transitory. The report declares that to restore silver now would not make the radical change that was effected in our currency laws by the act demonetizing it. We have coined, it says, over 400,000,000 silver dollars, and have besides over $50,000,000 of silver bullion and are now purchasing 4,500,000 ounces every month, or 54,000,000 annually. Our approach to free coinage has been steady and persistent. We are now suffering all the evils alleged against free coinage by its opponents without the realization of many of the benefits of free coinage claimed by its friends. The stocks of coined silver would add to the world's money, and would render it less burdensome to meet gold contracts than now. Gold would be invested rather than hoarded.

Would Cheapen Gold

The report takes up the question of the relation of the silver question to India to show that silver demonetization operates as a bonus on Indian exports to our disadvantage. It states that countries having the standard silver dollar avoid, as far as possible, liquidating foreign debts in money because silver is, compared with gold, depreciated. India, instead of sending silver to pay foreign balances, sends wheat and cotton and other exports which have not lost their value in her currency. This works as an indirect bonus upon all such exports from silver standard countries. In this country were are tied to a single gold standard; consequently when gold goes up, as compared to silver, the lower farmers' wheat, cotton and other exports fall in price.

The farmer in a silver country who sells his products in a gold-using country, gets gold for them and he can buy enough silver for a gold dollar in London to coin over $1.25 in India. The American farmer cannot, with his gold dollar, buy silver for coinage at home, because free coinage is denied him. The free coinage of silver would add at least 12 to 15 per cent. to the Value of All Farm Products.

The report regards the low price of silver as a factor in the decline of cotton, and claims that despite the failure of breadstuff crops nearly everywhere except in the United States our food products are now selling too low for any profit. The report argues that bullion purchases will not restore the parity of the two metals. It states that bi-metalism does not tolerate the idea that one metal shall be set up as the standard by which the other metal shall be purchased or measured.

The report then quotes from a well-known authority to the effect that, as people want always to pay in the cheaper money, the demand under the double standard for the metal, which falls off in price, results in raising the value of that metal again and bringing the two together. A review of the way in which France held the two metals together is given to show the ability of the United States to maintain each metal at par, and it is asserted that free coinage would put more money in circulation, besides raising the status of silver the world over.

'TWIXT LOVE AND DUTY.

A Pious Girl Tries to Solve a Solemn Riddle by Taking Her Life.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Nellie Driscoll came from Providence six months ago to learn hair dressing and manicuring. She was engaged to be married to Joseph Thalman of Providence, and Mrs. Murphy, who she lived with at 972 Third avenue, speaks of her in the highest terms. Before she left Providence Miss Driscoll had decided to become a nun. Her meeting with the young man to whom she was engaged caused her to alter her plans, but she was in doubt. She frequently talked to Mrs. Murphy of the struggle that went on in her heart. She said she was certain no happiness would follow her marriage.

She was not up in time to accompany Mrs. Murphy to mass yesterday, and on her return from church Mrs. Murphy rapped at her bedroom door. Receiving no reply, she opened the door. Miss Driscoll was in bed. Her night clothes and the bed spread were stained with blood and she was unconscious. Mrs. Murphy called a doctor who found that the blood had flowed from a wound in Miss Driscoll's throat made with a razor.

An ambulance took the girl to Bellevue hospital, where it was said that she had missed the large vessels, but had cut into the windpipe. A tube was inserted before the wound was sown up, and she is breathing temporarily through that. She may recover. Mrs. Murphy believes that the girl's mind was unhinged by the morbid thought that she had committed a sin in promising a man to marry him.

MILLIONS WILL CHANGE HANDS.

Gigantic Combination Proposed by All the Railroads Entering Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—The Times says a revolutionary move is contemplated by the railways entering Chicago. Rather than elevate their tracks they propose to build a new belt line with which each road will have a connection, all tracks, depots and other property within the city limits to be abandoned. It is estimated that to elevate all the surface tracks in Chicago proper would cost between $6,000,000 and $9,000,000. It is proposed to sell all railroad property in the city limits, and it is believed the amount so realized will build the belt line, all new depots and pay all expenses attending the change, and then leave a surplus of more than $10,000,000 in the aggregate. Behind the scheme are all the Vanderbilt roads and six other companies. The motive for this radical departure is the agitation from the daily horrors at Grand crossing, the loss of life in the aggregate being appalling.

THE COAL CREEK TROUBLE.

Talk of a Compromise with Miners. State Militia Still on Guard.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 15.—The labor people at Coal Creek have been holding numerous conferences the past two days. One thing which has caused some of the conferences was the proposition made by the Tennessee Mining company, viz: To conduct the mine at Briceville on the co-operative plan. The miners have not fully decided yet what they will do, but the indications are that the offer will be accepted.

It is said that if the offer is not accepted the company will sell its property to the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railway company, the penitentiary lessees, who will put convicts to work. The state has the larger part of her standing army encamped on the hill at Coal Creek, and the expense is heavy. It is certainly true that if the troops are withdrawn the convicts will be released again.

Cotton Burned at Liverpool.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 15.—Fire started last evening in Bramley's cotton shed on Moore dock and spread rapidly to the quay upon which was piled an enormous quantity of cotton in bales just landed. A number of vessels were lying at the dock. One of them, the Spanish steamer Ramond de Larrinigia, which had just arrived with a cargo of cotton from New Orleans, caught fire in several places, and at 5 o'clock this morning was still burning. The vessel and such of her cargo as remained on board will be wholly consumed.

Hard Times for Salvationists.

LONDON, Feb. 15. At Eastbourne yesterday the police dispersed the gathering of members of the Salvation Army and prevented their holding their customary Sunday services on the beach or playing on their instruments in the streets. But there was much disorder, and several fights occurred.

Iowa Miners Discouraged.

OTTUMWA, Ia., Feb. 15.—There is great distress in the mining town of Mystic. The Iowa Central railroad, a month ago, made rates to other towns which shut out Mystic and took away the coal trade, and 900 miners' families are beginning to feel the pangs of hunger.

ALGER'S WAR RECORD

Defended by Acting Brigade Surgeon Wooster.

A Sworn Statement Made in Which He Says he Ordered Alger's Removal to a Hospital.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—General J. C. Kellon, adjutant general of the United States army, has received the following sworn statement from Samuel R. Wooster, late surgeon of the First Michigan cavalry and acting brigade surgeon, with reference to General Alger's military record:

I enlisted as assistant surgeon of the Eighth Michigan infantry Aug. 19, 1861, was promoted to surgeon of the First Michigan cavalry Feb. 26, 1863; mustered out Oct. 10, 1864. The First cavalry was one of Custer's Michigan cavalry brigade during the campaign of 1863 and 1864, and up to the time of my discharge from the service I was acting brigade surgeon on General Custer's staff; at the battle of Shepardstown, Va., at which I was present, and where we were forced to retire across the Potomac on account of the great strength of the enemy, I knew that General Alger, then Colonel Alger of the Fifth Michigan cavalry, commanding his own and the Sixth Michigan cavalry was detailed to protect the crossing of the balance of the command with the artillery and train, which he accomplished. During this campaign General Alger's health was very much impaired, and the night after our crossing into Maryland from Shepardstown he was very ill. The following morning, as we were gathering the sick and wounded together to send to hospitals, I informed Colonel Alger and must go to the hospital. This was customary for surgeons in the field to do when the command was on the move, and I accordingly directed that Colonel Alger be sent to Annapolis with others, and I distinctly remember that I told him that I would forward proper papers to him there, as we wished to get the sick and wounded away at once.

That He Was Not Able to March

I made application for his leave to General Custer, reporting the facts, and supposed that it was granted, and never heard to the contrary until yesterday. In my opinion there never was a more unjust act committed against a soldier than that which was reported to have been by General Custer in his reporting him as absent without leave, and recommending his dismissal. All who knew General Alger at the war knew that he was very prompt and punctual in his duties, and he would have been one of the last men in the world to disobey an order or fail to perform his duty.

If there is any person responsible for his being sent to the hospital with or at the proper order accompanying, I am that person. Will you do General Alger and me the justice to file this sworn statement with his war record in your office? I have the honor to be, general, very respectively, your obedient servant,

SAMUEL R. WOOSTER,
Late Surgeon First Michigan Cavalry; Acting Brigade Surgeon.

The Affidavit.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 12, 1892.
STATE OF MICHIGAN, COUNTY WAYNE, S.S.

Samuel R. Wooster, being duly sworn, deposes and says that the above statement is true in substance and fact.

SAMUEL R. WOOSTER.

Sworn and subscribed to before me, William T. Degross, notary public, county of Wayne, state of Michigan.

General Alger has requested Adjutant General Kelton to file the above with his war record.

MISSISSIPPI POLITICS.

Alliance Leader Favors Hill for President and May Invite Him South.

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 15.—Representative Burkett, state Alliance lecturer, introduced into the house today a joint resolution inviting Senator Hill to visit the capitol of Mississippi and deliver a speech on any subject he may choose, on or before March 1. To a reporter Mr. Burkett said: "I regard Mr. Hill as nearer in line with the reform demanded by our people than any other eastern Democrat prominent enough to be mentioned for the presidency. Alliance Democrats of Mississippi—and nine-tenths of the order are Democrats—will support the Democratic nominee whoever he may be. Boies of Iowa or Palmer of Illinois would be acceptable to Mississippi. But for the gold standard of Russell of Massachusetts he would make an excellent showing." A poll of the Mississippi legislature some weeks ago gave Cleveland the lead over the field.

BOOM IN HORSEFLESH.

High Price of Beef and Mutton Sends Parisian Nags to Slaughter Houses.

PARIS, Feb. 15.—The rise in the price of beef and mutton caused by the new tariff has led to an enormous demand for horseflesh in Paris. The police prefecture reports that the horses, asses and mules now slaughtered represent over one-third of the whole quantity of meat consumed. Fillet of horse and donkey is retailed at 10 pence a pound; steak at 7 pence, and inferior parts at 2 pence a pound. Worn out animals are rising in value and are being bought up everywhere within a radius of 200 miles of Paris.

Murderers Hanged by a Mob.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Feb. 15.—John Kelly murdered a saloon keeper last Tuesday. He was arrested at Rison yesterday and brought here last night. A mob took the prisoner from the officers and hanged him. The crowd then broke into the jail, took out Gilbert Harris, another negro implicated in the crime, and hanged him also.

A COWARDLY ASSAULT.

Two Roughs Murderously Beat a Man. Injuries May Result Fatally.

LYNN, Mass., Feb. 15.—Joseph (alias "Dipper Hole") Welch and George W. Southworth were arrested yesterday for an alleged murderous assault upon Lawrence Mullen of North Saugus. Mullen is employed in the Belmont, a road house in North Saugus, on Spring street, an avenue intersecting the Newburyport turnpike.

Welch and Southworth visited the Belmont about two months ago, and after their departure a carriage whip was reported missing. The next visit Welch paid the house Mullen accused him of stealing the whip. This angered Welch, who then stated that he would square accounts with Mullen at the proper time.

Last Saturday Welch and Southworth again visited the Belmont in quest of Mullen. They were under the influence of liquor, though not intoxicated. Welch challenged Mullen to accompany him to a barn in the rear of the Belmont to settle, by a fistic encounter, who was the better man.

Up to this point Southworth had remained inactive, but quick to respond to his companion's appeals for assistance, he seized an iron bar resting on a cask in the yard, and dealt Mullen blow after blow with the weapon until he left him unconscious and bleeding from several wounds. Welch and Southworth then made their escape.

Since the assault Mullen has lingered between life and death, and Dr. Heath of Wakefield states that his recovery is in doubt. Yesterday afternoon he was in a semi-comatose state. Welch and Southworth have bad criminal records.

A WORSHIPPER OF ART.

Curious Discoveries in the Room of a Recluse After His Death.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Henry Tenbroeck Gamage, 87 years of age, a recluse and classmate of ex-Senator Evarts at Yale, was found dead yesterday in his room in the building of the University of New York, where he lived for forty-nine years. Death was due to natural causes. The body was found with the head resting on the top of a lighted oil stove and the flesh of the face was burned off to the bone. Very little is known about the man. No one was permitted to enter the room.

His barn-like apartment, which was illuminated only by a skylight, was filled from floor to ceiling with paintings and portraits in rusty frames. Many of the pictures are said to be genuine originals of old masters. Dust covered statues, and placques and medallions, black with age and dirt, adorned the corners of the room.

No letter came to the old man oftener than once in a month or two, and these were usually from Rev. Dr. H. S. Gardner of New Milford, Penn., and he is the only friend Gamage had so far as is known.

USED A JACK-KNIFE.

Biddeford Constable Stabbed by a Drunken ex-Officer.

BIDDEFORD, Me., Feb. 15.—Thomas Kelley, a Biddeford mill operative and constable of ward 7, is confined to his bed with two jack-knife wounds, inflicted yesterday morning by Patrick Cullinan of this city. Cullinan, whose age is about 27, has been doing night police duty nearly all winter, during the sickness of his father, but a short time ago he was discharged from the force for being intoxicated.

Late Saturday night, while drunk, he went into the Biddeford opera house, where the Biddeford military band's fair was in progress, and while there had some words with Thomas Campbell, a young man of 25. Friends tried to prevent them from quarrelling, but Campbell got in a blow at Cullinan, and then ran down stairs,

Followed by His Adversary, who had drawn a big-bladed jack knife, and was threatening the life of Campbell.

Manager Yates of the Opera house got word to the police station that Cullinan needed looking after, and Deputy Marshal Grant and one of his subordinates started out in pursuit of him. They missed him, however, and after midnight, while making a search in the shipyard, they heard news that Cullinan had stabbed Constable Kelley in a clubroom in Hooper's block, run by Fred Lord.

The Story of the Affray, as told by parties who were in the clubroom at the time, is that Cullinan came in with a knife in his hand and said he was looking for Campbell. Constable Kelley made some remark about what he thought of a man who would carry a knife, and Cullinan turned on him, flooring Kelley, and making two attempts to stab him in the breast.

A closely buttoned reefer prevented the knife from taking effect, but the drunken fellow succeeded in rolling Kelley over, and then plunged the knife blade first into his right arm and then just below the shoulder blade.

Then the Crowd Took a Hand in the melee and separated the would-be murderer and his victim. The officers appeared on the scene and arrested Cullinan, who is now at the police station awaiting trial on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

Constable Kelley's wounds are severe, but not necessarily critical. To test Cullinan's temper one of the officers told him that Kelley was dead. Whereupon the prisoner remarked that he was glad of it.

The clubroom in which the assault occurred was raided yesterday by City Marshal Tarbox, who seized a large quantity of liquor.

The sheriffs and officers have made very few seizures of late. There are four open barrooms running in the city at the present time.

HAS LOST HER REASON.

Sarah Althea Terry Again Claims Attention by Her Peculiar Actions.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—A paper here says: Sarah Althea Terry is hopelessly insane. She acquired notoriety from her suit against the late millionaire, William Sharon, whose wife she claimed to be. She afterward married Judge Terry, her counsel in the Sharon case. Terry was afterward killed by Deputy United States Marshal Nagle, while attacking Judge Stephen J. Field, who decided a suit against Mrs. Terry. Mrs. Terry came here from Stockton Thursday night. She sits up in bed at the house where she is staying, and with a handkerchief folded to resemble a speaking trumpet held to her mouth holds imaginary conversations with spirits. Friday night she nearly escaped from the house without any clothing on. She sat four hours perched upon a bureau talking to the spirits.

Mrs. Terry left the house yesterday and the police are unable to find her.

WEEK OF POLITICAL ISSUES.

Many Interesting Matters Before Congress for Consideration.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—There are indications that this week will be notable in congressional annals as one in which political issues were made up. In the house there may be an alignment of members on the silver question, and it is probable that in the senate will be defined the economical policy of the Democrats as a sequence of the program adopted by the majority in the house.

The bill providing for the public printing and binding, which is the pending business in the senate, will probably be attacked in the section creating a superintendent of public documents. The Democratic senators are disposed to question the statement that the entire bill is in the interest of economy. The debate on the measure is expected to occupy several days.

It is probable that the subject of appropriations will be the principal subject of discussion in the house during the week, unless the silver question should be forced to the front. It is the intention of the Indian affairs committee to call up the Indian appropriation bill early in the week and its consideration may operate to postpone all other measures, and the large reductions made in the bill from the act of the last congress will not be permitted to go unchallenged. The silver men are striving to have the rules committee report at an early day on Mr. Bland's resolution making the silver bills a special continuing order in the house. When this resolution is reported, it is expected that an interesting parliamentary struggle will begin.

JAIL BIRDS CAPTURED

But Not Before They Committed Burglary and Were Almost Frozen.

BARNSTABLE, Mass., Feb. 15.—Jerome Tobey and Samuel Bumpus, prisoners who broke jail Saturday, were captured yesterday at 5 o'clock. They had traveled all night through the snow and ice to Menauhant, East Falmouth, the latter having nothing on his feet but slippers and cotton socks.

At East Flamouth it is charged that they broke into the store of John Robinson, taking tobacco, cigars, canned meats and other provisions, also an overcoat and other clothing, which they conveyed to Menauhant, breaking into a cottage there and going to sleep.

At Falmouth the local officers were looking for the persons who broke into Robinson's store, and following the snow tracks to Menauhant found the escaped prisoners, having been joined by the county officers.

The officers arrived at the jail with the prisoners at 7:30. They were in an exhausted condition.

ON THE ALERT.

New York Health Officials Keeping a Close Watch on Immigrants.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15. The steamers City of Berlin, Belgenland and Russia were detained at quarantine all day yesterday with a view to making a thorough search for possibly contagious diseases among the immigrants on board. The City of Berlin brought a number of Russian Jews among her 180 steerage passengers. The Belgenland brought 235 and the Russian 540 immigrants, among whom are people from localities near the places from which came the typhus-infected Russian Jews to this port. Drs. Smith and Jenkins examined each individual on the City of Berlin, but found no indications of infection. It is possible that all the people will be sent to the Hoffman island for twenty days for observation.

The steamer Vigilancia from Rio de Janeiro was also detained at quarantine, some of the crew having been taken off with yellow fever at Bahia.

Two additional cases of typhus fever were discovered here last night. This makes seventy-six cases in all.

PROPOSED TANNERY TRUST.

English Capitalists Offer Big Inducements to Accomplish Their Object.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 15.—A paper here says a combination of English capitalists is seeking to consolidate the tanneries of the United States into a trust, with headquarters in the east and a local office in each state. One million pounds of the capital stock of the English syndicate has been subscribed for. The syndicate, it is stated, includes the most prominent leather merchants in England. The inducement which the syndicate holds out to the tanners of this country is an entirely new process of tanning leather by means of a liquid that practically eliminates time from the operation. Under the old method it takes from forty to fifty days to tan a calfskin, while under the new process it can be accomplished within ten hours. The new process also reduces the cost of tanning 50 per cent.

Bride and Widow.

WEST BERKELEY, Cal., Feb. 15.—F. J. Blaps and Conchita Sylvester were married Saturday evening. The bridal party proceeded to Posen station to take a train to their home. While standing on the track, the overland train dashed around the curve into the party. Blaps and Mrs. Silvia were instantly killed and a little boy was dangerous wounded. The bride's grief was heartrending.

Capital Increased by $1,750,000.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—The United States School Furniture company has increased its capital stock from $250,000 to $2,000,000. Nearly all the leading school furniture manufacturing concerns in the country have sold out to the company.

To Reduce the Cotton Crop.

MACON, Ga., Feb. 15.—Reports from the cotton raising counties of Georgia indicate that this year much of the acreage devoted to cotton heretofore will be planted in corn, wheat, peas and other food crops and tobacco.

Took Big Chances for a Small Sum.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 15.—Meredith Stanley, the bridge jumper, made a leap from the Cincinnati and Covington bridge, a distance of over 100 feet, into the Ohio river for a purse of $25, and was probably fatally hurt.

In the Grip of English Bankers.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Michael Davitt, in a speech at Middleton yesterday, said it was not generally known that Irish properties were mortgaged to English bankers and others to the extent of £160,000,000. He announced that he would not run for parliament again before the general election.

No Trial for Webb.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 15.—Deputy Sheriff Waller arrived in Selma with Riley Webb, a negro rapist. The deputy was closely pursued by a mob, heavily armed with Winchesters. It is believed here the negro will be taken from the jail and lynched.

Strife in Egypt.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Civil war is raging in Khartoum and vicinity. Cherif, the claimant of the khalifhate, is said to have been victorious in some battles against Abdallah, chief of the Baggara tribe. Kassala is reported depopulated.

STATE POLITICS.

The Republican and Democratic Tickets.

The Effect of Ex-Governor Wetmore's Withdrawal.

The Prospects of the Newport Bond Bill.

The Judiciary Bill and other Matters before the General Assembly.

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 15.—"Senator Aldrich will be the next man elected to the United States Senate from Rhode Island" said a well-known Republican who is talked about as much almost as Senator Aldrich himself, Saturday night when the news came to Providence that ex-Governor Wetmore had declined this man spoke emphatically.

With that word declination passing about from one to another it was singular how things political straightened themselves out and the camera of official life became focused on conspicuous Republicans and Democrats—those to be arrayed in this earliest of Presidential year campaigns against each other.

Senator Aldrich for United States Senator.
Lieutenant Governor Henry Stearns of Lincoln for governor.
Melville Bull, if he will accept, for lieutenant governor.
Secretary Utter for secretary of state.
Robert W. Burbank for attorney general.
Samuel Clarke for state treasurer.

This ticket is what the indications point to today, while the Democrats stick to the much earlier suggested and generally acquiesced in candidacy of Ex-Lieutenant Governor Wardwell of Bristol for governor.

David S. Baker, Jr., of North Kingstown for lieutenant governor.
Augustus S. Miller for attorney general.
Assemblyman Hefferuan of Woonsocket for secretary of state.
Benjamin Case of South Kingstown for general treasurer.

Talk and gossip has centered upon this Democratic ticket so long that it seems to have been generally accepted by all the leading men of the party throughout the state. There is, however, a disposition among some of the leaders of the party in this city to test the feeling in the convention on the candidacy for secretary of state, as between Mr. Hefferuan of Woonsocket and Mr. C. Acton Ives of Newport. The Democrats are studying Newport just now with a view to counteracting the Republican efforts in that direction. The Newport delegation is wanted by both parties so badly to complete the majority in the next Assembly that it is to be made the seat of war so to speak and each party outside of Newport claims the town with great and growing vigor.

Mr. Wetmore's supposed candidacy and his dropping out, the evident sensitiveness of his influential friends, especially in Newport and its neighborhood, have caused a merry splurge in political matters and developing events there will be of the greatest interest to politicians here. One thing is very evident about the senatorial question and relates to the Republicans. The Aldrich men consider the battle more than three-quarters won and their satisfaction is keen. Had Mr. Wetmore come out squarely and said that he was a candidate for re-election, men and politicians who have been on the four corners of all sorts of political fights would have been enlisted in his cause. They were in town all last week and they were up early and out late. The scenes enacted rivalled any that were ever witnessed at 'Lection in Newport—the night before or the night after. It is safe to say that every cross roads grocery had its delegate here last week looking for Mr. Wetmore or anybody who in any way was mentioned in any way closely with him. It was astonishing to see the well known Democrats who hovered around the state house, the Narragansett Hotel and, what well known Republicans desired to link their fortune with that of Mr. Wetmore. The expenses of a great campaign, one which would put that of Senator Aldrich backed up by General Brayton in the shade would have been large of course. Even the legitimate outlay would have been somewhat astounding. The legitimate outlay is what all the numerous workers were interested in the past week and the greater number of the out-of-towners, the boys from Scituate, West Greenwich, Richmond, Foster, Cranston, Harrisville and all the wood-growing towns were eager to help expend. The one word "declination" was a crusher for them. It shattered all their dreams founded upon the avowed threat of a couple of years ago when Mr. Wetmore's friends said that his political defeat in Rhode Island was to be laid at Senator Aldrich's door and that for that overthrow he himself would be laid on the back shelf. There is no denying the statement that had Mr. Wetmore entered into the contest for Senatorial honors he would have palsied some of the men who have deerted him and a masterly campaign would have attracted the widespread interest of the country.

A good many Democrats do not like the contest against Senator Aldrich. They would have preferred to have him retire. They have become convinced that he even wields greater power than ever supposed since his efforts to secure the withdrawal of Mr. Wetmore have resulted so decisively—and through Mr. Wetmore's own friends abroad.

Before a caucus has been held, with the exception of Newport, one can hear the Democratic sighs. Prominent men of the party already concede that Senator Aldrich will be elected, that the General Assembly will be sufficiently Republican therefor and that from present indications the state officers will be chosen by the same assembly.

Referring to the Newport caucuses there is talk and some bluff. It is claimed by men who would like to have taken part in them that they were held too early and are not legal because called before the state convention was duly announced. There is some braggadocio talk about excluding the Newport city convention delegates from the state convention on this account. The bluff talk is apparently for the purpose of harassing the Newport gentlemen who are taking an active interest in political affairs at the present time The delegation will undoubtedly have no trouble at all about its right to have seats in the convention here on the 2d of March. The men who talk the loudest about the caucuses being illegal are working in every ward in Providence for Senator Hill of New York, and Newport's early action has been somewhat discouraging to them and the Hill "boom" does not appear to be so strong as it was.

The judiciary bill in the General Assembly is still in committee and some more hearings are to be held, one on Thursday next and some still later. Chairman of Committee Woods has apparently no formulated idea about the length of time he will grant for hearings. The bill will come pretty close to the state election, if it is not carried over to the next assembly. An effort will be made to get Mr. Peckham and Mr. Sheffield, Sr., of Newport to come up and make an address on the bill.

Mr. Kendrick, who introduced the water pollution bill, is very conveniently out of the house and some of the other assemblymen must take up the cudgel against the big and wealthy men of the Pawtuxet valley. As the bill is now drawn Newport people may be interested, for it provides against the befouling of any water taken for domestic use.

There is manifestly no hurry about the Newport bond bill, and the committee will act at leisure. It is expected that a good deal of debate will be indulged in when the matter comes before the house. As the bill comes pretty near to election time it has been hinted that there might be some politics in the thing, and it is said that the present Legislature will aid certain gentlemen in the struggle to shake up Newport's taxpayers to the realizing necessity of carrying the town in the state election. Thus, as indicated some time ago Mayor Honey's administration is to be pursued and chased up by people interested in politics a good deal away from the boundary lines of Newport. Not long ago in a previous assembly a mountain was made out of a mole hill, when a bill was passed relating to the commissioner of public works of Providence. It is a case much different from that which engrosses the Newport people, but the men who passed the bill did not desire the decapitation of the mayor because opposed to his politics.

The prospect is that the bill to regulate the Newport bonds will eventually pass and then the struggle may come in the Newport council to put the question out to the people on the 6th of April, state election day. If it is a measure full of politics, it will then be understood and clearly found out. Learned lawyers here insist that Mayor Honey was right in his advice and action, but this does not deter the legislature from doing just what it sees fit, even with Newport's charter or Newport's mayor.

LOOKABOUT.

HE WAS A CUSTOMER.

It was at the headquarters of the Nimble Pioneer Corps. An old farmer, who had a decidedly aquiline nose and a look of contentment on his face, had been sitting in a corner for over an hour. No one seemed to know him and he looked as if he didn't care for anything that lived. At length a member of the corps went over to him and said:—

"See here, old man, what's your business in this place?"

"Oh, I happened to be in town and jess thought I'd drop in fur a minute, that's all," came the reply.

"Well, don't you know that these rooms are for the exclusive use of the pioneer corps?"

"Now," and the rural gentleman placed his cowhide boots upon a small table and gazed at his questioner with one eye, "you surely ain't goin' to kick because I'm sittin' down here in this room?"

"That's just what's the matter."

The farmer scratched at his head awhile and then said:—

"Do you remember the fair that you people had about two months ago?"

"I do."

"Right in these here rooms?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, it's as true as I tell you, sir, there used to be some of my folks down to that fair near every night. My wife Sal bought two hull frocks at that fair for our little daughter Betsy, and she paid a purty clever price for 'em, too. And then there was me older daughter Kate. Why, land o' Goshen, it was a regular circus to see her and Jim Hale—that's her beau—coming home of a Saturday night. They'd bring enough candy and cake home to give the hull of Africa and Cucumber Station the dyspepsia for seven years. And my son George! Why, fur a fact, I believe he was down to that fair all the time. He'd think of nothin' but fair, fair, fair all the time, and I've heard him say as how he'd bought three five-cent paddles or sunthin' of that sort and all to one time, mind yer. He— "

"Well, what's all this got to do with your loafing here?" put in the pioneer corps man.

"What's it got to do with my loafin' here?" repeated the farmer. "Land o' Goshen! Hain't a good customer like me a right to come and spend a spare minute here? Why, my souls! There's old Bill Sykes, what keeps the ginerl store to hum, as has his seats in his place marked accordin' to the value of his customers! Man alive! you people are the impoiitest—"

"Come, you'll have to get," came in stern tones.

"But, young feller, I'd really like to wait here till Sal comes out of yon store. By the way, I spent a quarter or so at your fair all to one time."

"Can't help it. You must go."

The old farmer rose to his feet, and moved toward the door; but before he went out he turned round, and, shaking his fist at the laughing crowd, yelled:—

"All right, I'll go and I'll go right now; but if ye ever have any more fairs you kin bet your boots I won't show up! I'm goin' straight hum, and fifteen minutes after I get there I'll have the hull population of Cucumber Station down on you and yer old fairs like a thousand o'brick, gol darn yer I"—[Philadelphia Times.

IN ARCADIE.

In Arcadie (so it is said),
Where dwell all lovers true,
The paths within the woodland shade
For lovers' wanderings are made
Just wide enough for two.

I long have tried the golden gates
That shut out Arcadie,
But he who at the portal waits,
Obedient to higher Fates,
Is blind—or claims to be.

He cannot see a single soul;
Yet when a maid and youth
Come by the great gates open roll,
And Eros as a passing toll
Claims but one word of truth.

What that word is I cannot tell—
Yet think that I can guess;
No other word holds such a spell,
No other word would do as well,
It surely must be "Yes."

My Lady, will you come with me?
One whispered word from you
Unlocks the gates of Arcadie,
Where care and sorrow may not be,
And paths are made for two.

Bertha—"Grandma, is oor teef good?"

Grandma—"No, darling: I've got none now, unfortunately."

Bertha—"Then, I'll give oo my nuts 'to mind till I come back."—[Pacific Methodist.

Hotel Clerk—"Is this $1,000 bill the smallest thing you have about you?"

Departing guest—"I am afraid it is."

Clerk (to bell boy)—"Here, take this bill out to one of the waiters, and ask him to change it."—[Life.

He had resented the affront with vigor and emphasis when the tailor presented his bill and insisted upon payment.

"Bah," he said, scornfully, "bah, sir, it takes nine tailors to make a man."

"I know it does," responded the tailor, pleasantly, "and now that I've done my share, why in thunder don't you go around to the other eight?"—[Detroit Free Press.

PERSONALS.

....Miss Mary Hull is the first woman in Connecticut to pass an examination as a lawyer.

....A messenger has been sent by King Menelek of Abyssinia to offer President Carnot two Nubian lions.

....Rudyard Kipling and wife, after a brief visit in America, will proceed to Samoa to see Mr. Stevenson, and then push on around the world.

....Equatorial America is the title of Mr. M. M. Ballou's forthcoming book of travel, describing a visit to St. Thomas, Martinique, Barbadoes, and the principal capitals of South America.

....The lectures on "The Evolution of Christianity," recently delivered at the Lowell Institute in Boston by Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott will be carefully revised by Dr. Abbott and then published in a volume by Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

....The only child of the late Crown Prince Rudolph of Austria, the Archduchess Elizabeth, now 9 years old, is particularly fond of horses, in which her father also took great delight. If she lives she will some day reign as Queen of Hungary, but not as Empress of Austria.

....Franklin Simmons, the sculptor, who is spending a few weeks in Washington, obtained sittings there soon after the late war from many of the Union Generals. He is now at work on a statue of Grant for the rotunda of the Capitol, and expects to complete it in two years. It will be of marble, and seven feet in height.

....An Edinburgh man claims to have discovered in a lumber room "the fiddle on which Thomson played our glorious Scotch melodies to Burns, the strains of which compelled him to lift up his voice and sing. A melody seized his fancy, and straightway the world was enriched by another gem of song. He wrote his songs to the music; melody was needed to wake his muse to ecstacy. Without Thomson and his fiddle the songs of Burns would have been fewer and possibly less full of sweetness." Robert Cox is the present owner's name.

....Andrew Carnegie has certainly insured for Pittsburg one of the most magnificent public libraries in the land. Some time ago Mr. Carnegie proposed to build a public library for Pittsburg at a cost of $1,000,000, provided the ground was furnished and the city sustain the library, when finished, at a yearly expense of $40,000. The ground was soon forthcoming, presented to the city by a Mrs. Scheney, and the city promised to do its part. Plans were ordered drawn, and these were accepted two weeks ago. The building is to be of solid granite, and will start with 50,000 volumes on its shelves. Now, Mr. Carnegie has placed another million dollars in the hands of a committee, to be put out at five per cent. interest, which annual income of $50,000 is to be spent in purchasing works of art and furnishing the museum, which will be annexed to the library. The main building will cost $350,000, which is $100,000 more than originally planned, and there will be five branch libraries, each one of which is to cost $50,000. Nineteen acres of ground will be required to accommodate the buildings. Incidental to Mr. Carnegie's magnificent gift comes one from his partner, Mr. Henry Phipps, who will erect a conservatory adjacent to the library buildings, at a cost of $125,000, and present it to the city.

THE SENATORSHIP.

It is given out on seemingly good authority, that ex-Governor Wetmore has withdrawn from the contest for the United States Senatorship. So far as he is concerned this is a movement in the right direction, as it must have required but a slight knowledge of the situation to discover that the probabilities of success were all against him. Senator Aldrich with his splendid national reputation and a record so satisfactory to his immediate constituents, cannot easily be dislodged, and Mr. Wetmore, though having many warm personal friends and interested supporters, could not reasonably hope to win as the case now stands. Hence the declination to be longer considered a candidate. Whether it be true or not that he had been "promised" the place as successor to Senator Dixon, as has been asserted, is not apparent, and even if that were so it would be of but little significance, for men who make such promises are rarely able to fulfill them when the time comes. It is rather an injury than otherwise to have it understood that a class of politicians assume so far on their ability to control as to undertake to mortgage the nominations and offices in advance. It is not likely therefore that such an understanding exists to any considerable extent or that Mr. Wetmore would wish to be handicapped so seriously as that would imply. At all events the field is open to Senator Aldrich to be his own successor providing the Republicans have a majority in the next General Assembly.

Providence has a case of typhus fever, the victim being a young Italian, who was a passenger on steamer Massalia which arrived in New York from Marseilles two weeks ago and from which the cases of the disease reported in New York during the past three or four days originated. The Massalia had among its steerage passengers 271 Russian Hebrews and 466 Italians and Armenians, the former remaining in New York and the latter scattering about the country. Nine came to Providence, four of them going to Valley Falls. Seventy-six cases of typhus fever have been discovered in New York and one at Newburgh, among those who were passengers on the steamer. The Providence victim has been removed to the hospital, the room he occupies thoroughly fumigated and other efforts taken to prevent the spread of the disease both in Providence and at Valley Falls.

The display of northern lights which Newport, in common with other portions of New England and New York, enjoyed on Saturday evening, was the most brilliant and interesting seen here in many years. There have been many causes assigned for this celestial phenomenon, but it is undoubtedly of electrical origin and may have been due, in some measure at least to the spots on the sun. At this period of the year the earth is near one of the enormous extensions of the sun's corona, which, according to the researches of Dr. Vedder, apparently serve as conductors of electrical impulses originating in the sun; auroras are most brilliant and frequent at such periods. The phenomenon, as seen here; resembled those described by the papers of other cities of New England and of New York. It was first seen shortly after 7 o'clock and lasted nearly an hour. The northern sky was diffused with deep pink which gave the impression that a fire was raging to the northward, but this impression was quickly overcome by the wide extent of the light, the changing of its tints, and the brilliant streaks of light running upwards through the darker color. The auroral display attracted much attention and furnished an interesting topic of conversation during the evening.

Senator Hill was late in getting to Washington and entering upon his duties and quick, after having been duly seated, to leave his post and return to Albany. While great as a politician he evidently has no stomach for statesmanship. He is already coming to be known at Washington as "the great absentee." It is more than two months since the session began and he is said to have been present but eleven days, and during that time to have done no service either on the floor of the Senate or in the committee rooms. Such is the man proposed for the Presidency by the enemies of Grover Cleveland. As an intriguer he is able to work numerous efficient games and play high fantastic tricks that are sure to please his immediate followers, but which have few charms for sober-minded citizens who will see to it that he does not enter the White House except as a visitor or "on business." No one need fear that David Bennett Hill will be elected though it is barely possible that he may force a nomination.

The Indian appropriation bill has been reported to Congress and shows a retrenchment in nearly all its particulars. The total appropriation is $7,236,787; the amount originally in the bill last year being $7,480,981 and the aggregate $17,051,842, $9,614,598 of which was to pay for lands purchased from various Indian tribes, making the total appropriation (less the amount for purchase of public lands) $800,157 greater than that contained in the present bill. In the new bill the current and contingent expenses are $36,535 less than for the same service last year; the item for fulfilling treaty stipulations is $103,027 more than last year, while the largest reduction in the present bill is $320,350 in the item for general incidental and miscellaneous expenses, the appropriation for schools being about $180,000 less.

Two thousand tons of flour, contributed by the farmers of the West and Northwest for the starving peasants of Russia, are now on the way east in five hundred and fifty cars. The flour will be shipped from New York on steamer Missouri, which will sail March 12, bound for Libau in the Baltic sea. Every railroad in this country, save one, is handling the flour free and the only direct expense attached to the shipment between the points where the contributions were made and the port of Libau, will be the charge made by one road for one car shipped over its line. The contributions were made in response to the appeal of the Northwestern Miller, and that paper's representative will go with the Missouri's cargo to attend to its distribution.

At one time and another glowing accounts have been sent out from Maine of the mining possibilities within the bounds of the state and numerous companies have been organized with ample capital to dig for precious metals, iron and coal. One by one these have come to grief and now even the relics of the Maine mining craze are disappearing, and soon nothing will remain but the many holes in the ground which disfigure the countryside and serve as pitfalls for unwary cattle and sheep. The machinery of the Douglass, Bluehill and Stewart mines at Bluehill, Hancock county, has been sold to a Boston firm, and is now being shipped as old iron. And thus ends another boom for sudden and unusual riches.

The knowledge that so many buildings are to be erected at Chicago for the World's Fair has created a wide spread impression that there must be a great demand for labor in that city. And so thousands have flocked to the city of the lakes with the expection of high wages, only to be disappointed, and the trouble has become so great from the presence of idle men there that the authorities are urged by many citizens, as well as by the local labor rumors, to sound a note of warning. There is said to be already a surplus of workingmen in the city.

The anti-Hill mass meeting in New York Friday evening has had disquieting effects upon the Tammany leaders, and the representatives of that organization in Congress have been summoned to New York to a conference with Senator Hill. The call must have been an urgent one, as important engagements were cancelled and the eulogies on the late Representative Spinola, which were down on the program for Saturday, were postponed at the request of Mr. Cockran.

The Ohio Society of New York has its seventh annual banquet in New York city, the special guests being President Harrison, Secretaries Foster, Noble, Elkins and Rusk; Senators Sherman and Brice, the entire delegation from Ohio in the House of Representatives, Governor McKinley and ex-Governor Campbell.

Ex-Governor Ames comes out squarely against the McKinley tariff and declares that the bill carried protection altogether too far. In this he is right, and had it not been for Mr. Blaine who as a little joker slipped in a reciprocal free trade card the case would have been worse than it is.

We regret to learn that Edison failed to establish telegraphic communication with the big spot on the sun. It remains for us to make the acquaintance of the people who live in that hole, which is big enough to take in several worlds like our own, at some future day.

Indian names have been selected for the new navy yard tugs which are being built at Boston. The one launched Friday is the Narkeeta and the others, the Walneta and Iwana. The Narkeeta will have its trial trip tomorrow.

The newspapers have it that Vice President Morton and Chauncey M. Depew wrote letters in favor of the re-election of Aldrich and the retirement of Governor Wetmore. In their opinion the proposed substitution would not strike the country favorably.

Rev. Dr. Abbott has stirred up the theologians of all classes. The evangelicals denounce his criticisms as going too far in the direction of rationalism and the extremists on the other side think the genial Brooklyn divine has not gone far enough.

Hon. Levi P. Morton is said to be in favor of the renomination of President Harrison with Secretary Tracy as candidate for Vice President. We should say that Mr. Morton should stand with his chief and should again be on the ticket.

Speaker Crisp evidently desired to give the pension bureau a fair show, as every man put on the investigating committee was a Union soldier. Not a single "confederate brigadier" or "peace at any price" man is on the list.

The Providence News is giving the Prohibitionists plenty of advice in these days, the substance of which is in every case to forsake their party and vote the Republican ticket. The Prohibs are used to that.

De Lesseps is seriously ill and at his advanced age is not likely to recover. His name will go into history as one of the greatest men of the nineteenth century.

The Newport Mercury of last week came out squarely against the candidacy of George Peabody Wetmore as successor to Senator Aldrich.

There is said to be another cold wave in sight and the ice men will extend a cordial welcome.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, causing distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet efficiently. It tones the stomach, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, banishes headache, and refreshes the mind.

Distress After Eating

Sick Headache

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. After eating I would have a faint or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble was aggravated by my business, painting. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, which did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." GEORGE A. ORGANIZATION OF AN ORDER OF DAUGHTERS OF THE REVOLUTION.

The institution of chapters of the National society of the Daughters of the American Revolution in the various cities and towns of the various states is a movement which cannot be too highly commended. That such a society was not organized many years ago is surprising. A country like ours, the history of which is so full of heroic deeds performed during the revolutionary war, as well as of sacrifice made by individuals and communities, in that noble fight for liberty, should certainly have an organization to perpetuate the memory of these deeds in just such a way as is pointed out by the constitution and by-laws of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The memory of days on which battles were fought in that war is being lost sight of by the masses. Even Washington's birthday is not celebrated with that whole hearted enthusiasm which might be expected from a grateful people. Our form of government is that of eternal justice, liberty and right, and the memory of all who assisted in making our country what it is ought to be held sacred.

Daniel Webster, in his speech at the laying of the corner stone of Bunker Hill monument, said:—"We wish, finally, that the last object to the sight of him who leaves his native shore and the first to gladden his who revisits it, may be something which shall remind him of the liberty and the glory of his country."

It is in the gathering together of the relics and records of the past, and the making for them a repository, where they shall be religiously treasured, that will tend in a great measure to keep alive the spirit of patriotism, and establish object lessons for the young and form a source of delight for the old.

Even Rhode Island is rich in reminiscences of the war of the revolution, and it is a pleasing thing to note that the Providence chapter of the Daughters of the Revolution was organized in what is known as the "Caspee room" in the home of Mrs. William R. Talbot on Williams street in that city.

It was in this room in which the plot to burn the British naval schooner Gaspee was formed. By an unanimous vote Gaspee was adopted as the name of the Providence chapter.

The preservation of the Rochambeau headquarters, now known as the Vernon family mansion in Newport, is one of the objects of the Rhode Island branch of the national society.

A collection of revolutionary and colonial relics and other objects of historical interest which it is intended shall be borrowed from various collections throughout the state, will be shortly placed on exhibition in Providence.

Several ladies in Woonsocket are interested in the institution of a local chapter.

A movement is on foot with this object in view and in a short time a meeting will be called at which officers will be elected.

In order to more fully understand the nature of this society the following quotations are made from the constitution and by-laws of the national society:

"The objects of the society are to perpetuate the memory of the men and women who achieved American independence, by the acquisition and protection of historical spots and the erection of monuments: by the encouragement of historical research in relation to the revolution and the publication of its results: by the preservation of documents and relics, and of the records of the individual services of revolutionary soldiers and patriots and by the promotion of celebrations of all patriotic anniversaries."

"To carry out the injunction of Washington in his farewell address to the American people, 'to promote, as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge,' thus developing an enlightened public opinion and affording to young and old such advantages as shall develop in them the largest capacity for performing the duties of American citizens."

"To cherish, maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom, to foster true patriotism and love of country and to aid in securing for mankind all the blessings of liberty."

"Any woman may be eligible for membership who is of the age of eighteen years and who is descended from an ancestor who, with unfailing loyalty, rendered material aid to the cause of independence as a recognized patriot, soldier or sailor, or as a civil officer in one of the several colonies or states, or of the United colonies or states, or from the mother of such patriot."

"When twelve members of the society shall be living in one locality they may, after formal authorization by the national board of management, organize a chapter. They may elect a presiding officer, whose title will be regent and who will be a delegate to the constitutional congress of the national society, a secretary and registrar and such other officers as may be required."

The initiation fee is $1 and the annual dues $2. The payment of $25 at one time constitutes a life membership.

Local chapters are entitled to one-half the annual dues received by such and one-half the life membership fees.

The Daughters of the American Revolution was first organized in the city of Washington on October 11, 1890, with Mrs. Benjamin Harrison as the first president general, and Mrs. James K. Polk, Mrs. Thomas A. Hendricks and Mrs. David D. Porter as the first honorary vice presidents general.

The first chapter in Rhode Island was organized in Bristol.

The national society is chartered by congress.—[Woonsocket paper.

A chapter will shortly be formed in Newport, further particulars of which may be obtained of Miss Elizabeth Swinburne, Pelham street.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Wall street.—Opening prices:—Atchison, 39¾; Canada Southern, 61; Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, 107¾; Delaware & Hudson, 135; Lackawanna, 161; Erie, 20¾; Erie preferred, 75¾; Louisville & Nashville, 77¾; New Jersey Central, 138; Northern Pacific preferred, 70¾; New York & New England, 51¾; Ontario & Western, 17¾; North American, 5; Reading, 39⅝; Rock Island, 81¼; St. Paul, 76⅝; Omaha, 48⅝; Texas Pacific, 11¾; Union Pacific, 43¾; Wabash preferred, 29⅝; Western Union, 89¼.

11 A. M.—The activity in the stock market this morning was on a much smaller scale than that of last week, but there was still a very large business transacted and Reading retained its usual preponderance in the dealings. The market opened with a decided strong tone and first prices were generally large fractions better than those of Saturday evening, while Lackawanna was up 1¼; Western Union, 1; Reading, 1¼; New England, 1, and Jersey Central, 1 per cent. These advances were followed by further improvement in the early trading but it was generally for fractional amounts only, though everything traded in was placed on a materially higher plane than Saturday's figures. Reading, however, advanced 1¾ to 61¾, and Jersey Central 2 to 140, while the only weak point in the list was Iowa Central preferred, which receded nearly 2 per cent. to 54¾. Among the general list the more prominent stocks were Union Pacific, Erie, New England, Richmond & West Point and Chicago Gas, all of which made substantial progress. There was little special feature to the trading, however, and at 12 o'clock the market was still very active and strong, at the highest prices reached.

Noon—Money on call, easy at 1¼ @ 2; prime mercantile paper, 3½ @ 5½; exchange, quiet at firm; bar silver, ——; actual rates $4.83½@4.84 for sixty days, and $4.88 @ ¼ for demand; posted rates, $4.86½ @ 9; governments, dull and steady; 4s reg., 110¾; 4s coup., 116¾; railroad bonds, active and firm; Pacific 6s, 109. There was the usual material diminution in the amount of the business done in the stock market after 1 o'clock, and prices yielded all along the line small fractions. Reading, however, retired about one per cent. and Distillers became the especial feature of the trading, declining from 60¾ to 48¾. The late dealings, however, showed a firmer tempor, and Atchison led the list in strength. No special feature of importance was seen, and at noon the market was active and firm generally at close to the best figures of the morning.

The Euterpe Club, Mr. Irving P. Irons conductor, will give its concert this evening, with the following program:—

FIRST PART.

Visions, Such Chorus.
Songs—April Sorrow, Lenopven
Good Night, Massenet
Mrs. Allen.
Songs—a. The winter hath not a blossom, Reincke
b. Welcome lovely spring, Schumann
Chorus.
Song—Summer Night, Goring Thomas
Miss Edmands.
Dance Song, Weinzierl
Chorus.

SECOND PART.

Queen of the Sea, Hummel
Soli and Chorus.

On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evening there will be performances of "The Border Land" by amateurs at St. John's Reading Room on Poplar street.

On Tuesday evening Professor Chapin will give the sixth lecture on physiology in the Y. M. C. A. course, treating of the ear, and Thursday evening Professor Manly discusses the beginnings of the classic reaction in English literature course at the Clarke street school building.

This evening Company B., Newport Light Infantry, will have the second of the series of socials at its armory in Bryer's Hall. On Tuesday Weenat Shassitt Tribe of Red Men will give an entertainment at which the Ladies Quartette will make its first public appearance. On Thursday evening Rhode Island Lodge, New England Order of Protection, will give a public entertainment on the occasion of the annual visit of the officers of the Grand Lodge of Rhode Island. Mayor John J. Whipple, supreme warden of the Supreme Lodge, will also be present and speak, and Miss Hattie Burrows and Professor Sweet of Providence will furnish another variety of entertainment. On Friday evening Redwood Lodge, Knights of Pythias, will have a ladies' night and social.

Manager Bull has received word that Sadie Marlan, who was billed to appear at the Opera House, on Friday night, in "Eily," is ill with an attack of the grip, that she was unable to play at Willimantic, on Saturday. The Newport date and all others for some days, have, in consequence, been cancelled. Miss Scanlan will, however, be seen here later in the season.

Beerbohm Thompson in "The Old Homestead" is doing wonderfully well, his Philadelphia engagement duplicating the success of Boston and New York.

Miss Gale closes her season in Chicago May 30 and on June 2 will sail with her mother and sister for England and the continent, where they have gone every summer for the past four years.

Sir Arthur Sullivan is busy writing the music for the new opera to follow the "Vicar of Bray" at the Savoy. Grundy has written the libretto, The opera deals with English country life in the seventeenth century.

"The Ensign" was a tremendous success in Washington. It is said that nearly every prominent official in the Capital city witnessed its production. Naval experts pronounce its "man-of-war" scenes to be the most accurate theatrical representations ever shown on any stage.

"Jane," which will be produced in the Providence Opera House beginning February 22, Duff's Opera Company will make its appearance. "Shenandoah," the successful war drama, will follow the opera company, and the big New York and Boston success "The Lost Paradise," will then begin a week's engagement. Mr. and Mrs. Kendal, it is decided to prolong their season in this country until June.

At the Providence Opera House this week Barry will present "McKenna's Flirtation" for three evenings and Charles Reed and William Collier will give their successful "Hoss and Hoss," during the remainder of the week. At the Gaiety, John Kernand Barney Reynolds will appear in "The Rivals;" at the Westminster will be seen the London Gaiety Company, and at Lothrop the new English melodrama "The Ring of Fire" by Frank H. Hawley, author of "Sons of Sin" and "Woman against Woman" will be given.

The Boston theatres offer some excellent attractions this week. The new Bowdoin Square Theatre will be opened with Nellie McHenry in "A Night at a Circus;" Sims and Pettitt's melodrama "The Trumpet Call" will have the first representation in America at the Boston; Lillian Russell appears at the Globe in "La Cigale;" Julia Marlowe will conclude her very successful engagement at the Hollis-street, playing "The Hunchback," "Much Ado about Nothing," "Cymbeline," "Romeo and Juliet" and "As You Like it;" Nat C. Daniels appears in "Little Puck" at the Tremont; "The Lost Paradise" at the Columbia and "The County Fair" at the Howard will continue their long runs; at the Museum "Holly Tree Inn" will be seen for the first time in Boston in connection with a new version of "Dombey and Son."

The second Arion concert will take place at Infantry Hall, Providence, on Tuesday evening, February 23, when the following program will be sung:—"A Knight and His Minstrel," ballad by H. W. Parker, mixed voices; "The Lady of Shalott," W. Bendall, soprano chorus and soprano solo; aria from "The Prophet," "Re del Cielo," Meyerbeer, tenor solo; "Woodland Angelus," Abt, for mixed voices; "The Bells of St. Michael's Tower," Stewart, mixed voices; three songs for soprano—"Might Love Night," Hadley; "Herbstgefuhl," Nevin; "Early Spring Morning Under Blossoming Tree," Hebmund, mixed chorus and soprano solo; "Cloud Capped Towers," and "Fine Love Song," for mixed chorus; "King of Christmas," Buck, for male chorus, solos for tenor and baritone; two Gerber songs by Thes, for soprano; "Sunset," Buck, for full chorus. The soloists are Miss Annabelle Clark of Boston, soprano; Mr. Edward C. Towne of New York, tenor, and Mr. Thomas Clifford, baritone, of Boston.

TURNER'S REMINISCENCES.

Henry E. Turner continued his reminiscences of Newport before a fair-sized audience in the Historical Society rooms on Saturday, speaking of many of the prominent men of the city fifty years ago. He first spoke of Benjamin Hazard, who occupied the house corner of Stone and Broad streets and was for many years a representative to the General Assembly; George Hall, a successful tanner, whose estate was bounded by Broad, Collins and Tanner streets; of Hon. Thomas G. Pitman, also a tanner and for many years general treasurer of the state; the Cranstons, Henry Y. and Robert B.; William Freeborn and Thomas Bush of Mr. Freeborn's store, Edward Simmons's blacksmith shop and hay scales, of the tannery, rigging and shipping business, the carnival of Newport, the celebration of the inauguration of the new state government; the yearly meeting in June, and the leading churches of Newport. Dr. Turner will continue his interesting reminiscences at a future meeting of the society, and it is thought that the interest created by these papers will inspire other members to give to the public something of their store of incidents of bygone Newport.

JAMESTOWN.

Schooner Aileville Peavey completed discharging coal for the steam ferry company today.

The arrival of the new hook and ladder truck for the local fire department caused considerable excitement about the ferry this morning. The truck and ladders were furnished by the Rhode Island Coupling Company of Providence and are manufactured by the Seagraves Manufacturing Company of Detroit, Michigan. Mr. J. T. Wakeman, agent of the company, came with the apparatus and was met at the boat landing by Councilman Littlefield of the committee on purchase of truck and Captain Oxx of the fire department, as well as a number of the members of the company. The truck was immediately drawn to the Prospect House, where Captain Oxx and several members of the department experimented under the direction of Mr. Wakeman in raising the forty-five-foot extension ladder. Although all, except Mr. Wakeman, were inexperienced in handling this kind of a ladder, it was raised without difficulty by four men. The truck and ladders were then taken to The Thorndike Hotel, which is a much higher building, and the ladder was placed in position and run up its full extent, forty-five feet, only three men being required to do it, occupying about two minutes in taking from the truck and putting in position. This is considered very satisfactory, as no effort was made to do the work quickly. Nine men then took their places upon the ladder in order to test its strength, and to all appearance the weight of as many more would have been sustained. The experiments proving satisfactory, the truck and ladders were accepted by the committee. Before going to the engine house the extension ladder was raised on the Bay View to have a photograph taken. The truck and ladders, to one who is used to seeing such in cities, has the appearance of being rather light for very rugged service, the whole with equipments weighing but 575 pounds. As this will be drawn by men and not by horses and there are no curbstones to cut across, it is generally believed that the running gear is heavy enough for country use. The ladders are light and easy to handle, but being made of the truss pattern, are very strong. The truck is painted red relieved by gilt and white stripes and has brass trimmings. The equipment consists of one 45-foot extension ladder, two 16 and one 14-foot ladder, six water buckets, two brass lanterns, one axe, two fire hooks and poles, one pull-down hook with chain rope and pole, one ripping bar and necessary rope for drawing truck. This truck is a much needed addition to the fire department apparatus as probably will be demonstrated at the first fire.

It is now about three years since the question of making provision for protection against fire was first agitated here. Today besides the truck the department has a good light hand engine, two hose reels and five hundred feet of hose, one Somerville 55-foot extension ladder, two 24-foot, one 20-foot and one 15-foot ladder, with necessary axes and lanterns, and can be considered to be fairly well equipped. Probably no other addition to the department will be made until after the experience of a fire shall have shown plainly what is necessary. The cost of the department to the town thus far has been about $1,000.

Mr. Preece, the house mover of Newport, is bringing over his big sticks preparatory to moving the house of Mrs. Putnam.

It is understood that the local ice dealers have their houses about two-thirds full, the last put in being about six inches in thickness.

Any one coming to Jamestown and intending to go about on foot will do well to provide himself with a pair of stilts, as the streets and sidewalks are a mass of mud and water.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Knowles have returned from Providence where they have been passing the winter.

NAVAL NOTES.

Lieutenant Frank J. Milligan, U. S. N., has been detached from the Monongahela and ordered home.

Lieutenant Commander Robert E. Impey, who recently returned from Paris, has been assigned to duty at the League Island navy yard.

Chief Engineer Montgomery Fletcher was put on the retired list today, being sixty-two years of age and having completed forty years of service. He will be entitled to retire with the relative rank of commodore.

Captain Francis H. Harrington of the marine corps will be relieved from duty in command of the marine guard at Sitka, Alaska, early next month. First Lieutenants George R. Benson and Joseph H. Pendleton have applied for the detail.

A letter from the Petrel dated Suez, Egypt, says:—"The Petrel left Santa Lucia November 14 to make the passage of 3,700 miles to Gibraltar on a course laid to escape the strength of the head winds, and the run was made in twenty-three days. From the 18th to the 24th of November it blew a moderate to strong southeasterly gale. Though the ship's decks were wet all the time and she occasionally rolled as much as forty-five degrees on either side she proved herself a good sea boat and, considering her small size she made satisfactory headway. The remainder of the passage the weather was fair and the sea smooth. This run was a good test of the Petrel's coal endurance. She started with 220 tons in her bunkers and twenty-five tons more on deck. Arriving at Gibraltar she had enough coal remaining for three or four days' longer steaming. After a stop of five days at the Rock coaling and overhauling the machinery, the run to Port Said was made in eight days. The passage through the canal was made without incident."

A Washington letter in the New York Herald says:—"The revenue marine transfer bill in its present shape is apparently doomed. The opposition against it is growing stronger every day. I am assured that there is no hope for the transfer this session unless a radical modification of the measure as it stands at present is made. Realizing this its friends in the Senate are now trying to save it by eliminating the objectionable features before it is reported by the naval committee. The transfer in any form will meet with some opposition, but if the antagonism of the officers of the navy can be obviated by amending the bill to conform to their views the friends of the measure are hopeful that the desired end may yet be accomplished. When the naval committee meets on Wednesday to take final action on the pending bill several new propositions will be submitted for accomplishing the transfer. Secretary Tracy, who is one of the strongest advocates of the transfer, is opposed to the bill in its present shape, and the amendments will be submitted with a view to meeting his objections. These amendments contemplate the transfer of the revenue cutter service to the navy as a separate corps, to occupy relations to the navy similar to that of the marine corps, instead of amalgamating the services as contemplated in the original bill. One of the strong arguments made by naval officers against the present bill is that it would operate in some instances to place officers of the revenue marine service, who had been discharged from the Naval Academy, over the heads of their classmates now in the naval service. In one instance, at least, an officer who failed in his studies at the Naval Academy, and subsequently received appointment to the revenue marine service, would be advanced fifteen numbers over the head of the senior member of the class of which the deficient cadet was a member. The plan which Secretary Tracy favors and which it is expected will receive the approval of the Senate committee is a transfer that will give the officers of the revenue marine the benefit of the navy retirement and promotion laws without interfering with the present grades in the navy, and which will give the Navy Department full control of the officers, men and ships of the revenue marine service, the Treasury Department being allowed to designate the duties it desires performed, but nothing further as to the movements of ships and officers."

LOCAL NOTES.

—Pilot boat E. F. Williams, No. 14, arrived yesterday.

—Mr. J. R. Finn arrived Saturday from a six weeks' visit to Ireland.

—Seven cases of measles were reported to the board of health today.

—Mr. and Mrs. Abbott Lawrence have returned from New Hampshire.

—Borge Barnegat, with coal for Pinniger & Manchester, arrived Saturday.

—Five candidates were baptized at the evening service at the First Baptist Church last night.

—Several of the tugs, with tows of empty barges, left the harbor for the westward, yesterday and today.

—The rifle match between the South Portsmouth and Newport teams will be shot Thursday at Sandy Point farm.

—J. M. Estes, a minister of Friends from Vassalboro, Maine, will hold a series of revival meetings at Buelah Mission, No 16 Broadway, beginning Tuesday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

—David C. Ross, who on Friday pleaded not guilty to a charge of assaulting Daisey Thompson, this morning retracted his plea and was sentenced to thirty days in the Providence county jail.

—Mr. John Hogan, one of the best-known members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in this city, and who was also a member of other societies, died very suddenly at his home in this city of pneumonia last night.

—It is proposed to have Rev. Mr. Banks of Boston, who has given considerable attention to what is known as the sweating system and to the condition of the poorer classes in that city, give an address in this city on "The Problem of Our Modern Cities," on February 29.

—The committee on special legislation, of the house of representatives will give a hearing at the state house, Providence, on Wednesday on an act to prevent the corruption of the sources of supply of water used for domestic purposes, an act in which all cities and all towns in the state having compact sections, are interested.

—The experience of the ice cutters yesterday was similar to that of a week ago. On Saturday the men were kept busy marking out, cutting and preparing to run the ice in. On Sunday over one-hundred men were put to work, the hoisting machinery started and kept running until nine o'clock in the evening when work was suspended. About 8 o'clock the rain, which had threatened for some time, came down with sufficient force to make it evident that further harvesting was over until another cold spell arrived. During the day about fourteen hundred tons of good ice, from six and a half to seven inches in thickness, was housed. Mr. Albro and Mr. Jurgens both had gangs at work on Green End pond, and both made good sized additions to the stock already housed. The ice in front of Mr. Albro's being heavier than that on Lily pond, he was able to do some work this morning. Another cold spell is looked for tomorrow, when cutting will be resumed.

—Mr. A. P. Baker removed his real estate offices to north store, Travers building, corner of Bath road today. The new quarters are well located and lighted, and the suite of offices, three in number, with library above, is tastefully arranged and furnished. A pleasant open staircase leads to the library, which will be supplied with every convenience and comfort.

—Steamer Tock-Wogh of the Wickford line is expected down from Providence on Thursday, the cold snap of Saturday having delayed the work of coppering the hull, which, it was thought, would be completed tomorrow. The changes in the boat's upperworks, which are to be made at the Old Colony repair shop, have not yet been decided on by the directors, but probably will be before Thursday, so that there need be no delay in getting the steamer ready for service.

—In the probate court this morning the guardian's final account on the estate of Sophronia White was approved; William H. Dewick was appointed guardian of the estate of Henry H. Dewick, minor; the administrator's final account on and prayer for the distribution of the estate of Martin Quinn was approved and distribution ordered; Joseph P. Barker was appointed administrator, with will annexed, on the estate of Joanna Barker; administrators' first accounts on and prayer for the distribution of the estates of John Hayes and John S. Duggan, executor's first account on the estate of Pastora E. Humphreys, and the petition for administration on the estate of Bernard McDermott were all continued; guardian's account on the estate of William A. Freeborne was approved, and C. F. D. Fayerweather, W. H. Watson and D. B. Gardner were appointed appraisers of the estate of Fanny Williams, alias Fanny Peters. Petitions were received and notices ordered thereon, for the probate of the wills of William Young and George A. Richmond, and for the administrator's second account on the estate of Mary A. T. Berry. At a special court held last week, George Callahan was appointed guardian on the estate of Michael Callahan.

The Boston Wholesale Fresh Fish Dealers' Association, at a meeting Saturday, unanimously adopted resolutions urging Congress to pass the bill to regulate the fisheries, introduced by Senator Aldrich and Representative Lapham. A delegation from the association will go to Washington to urge its passage.

MILITARY TOPS IN ACTION.

The advantages of fighting positions aloft have been recognized in all navies, and from the galley period to this day the tops and other airy superstructures have been utilized with deadly effect by sharp-shooters. Nelson was killed at Trafalgar by a musket-ball fired from the mizzentop of the French two-decker Redoubtable, and in a memorable sea-fight during the hard-hitting, ramming, and close-aboard battles of the Greeks, a Persian admiral was at a critical moment "hit in the eye with a stone bow" fired from aloft, and lost the victory. Those old sailors put great trust in this plunging of missiles from overhead, for Athenæus describes with great pride a galley that had three masts, "each furnished with engines for throwing stones and large iron hooks," these last being undoubtedly the grappling-irons of the sail period. "The roundtops," he continues," were built of brass, and in them a constant watch was kept by soldiers, to whom stones could be conveyed in baskets fitted with tackles."

It is a far cry from stones to machine-guns, but the tactical principle is the same, and so valuable that some monster battle ships of our days have as many as two tops bolted to each of their military masts. The small-calibred pieces are supported by a few riflemen, and in every conflict their work of clearing the guns, of sweeping the decks and superstructures, and of picking off, when the smoke allows, the officers and leading men, is as important as it is hazardous. In the galley days the military tops were fairly well protected, but during the sail era the topmen handling the swivel pieces and deck-rakers, and forming a special corps of musketeers, had no protection except what was given by a nest-work of mattress-filled hammocks. The steel barbettes of the present time, save to a few battle ships where they carry an overhead shield, give a protection more apparent than real, more picturesque than practical; and while the fighting crews certainly have the advantage of seeing the scrimmage, yet they present a most inviting mark to the people they are harassing.

There are many forms of machine-guns, but that used in our service is the Gatling. These pieces are primarily intended to disable or kill the enemy's crew, and with certain feeds and by certain patent gearing can, when required, discharge as many as 1200 bullets a minute. Other devices give them a slight lateral motion so as to distribute their shower of projectiles in a cone or fan shape, the extent of the dispersion being sufficient to cover a regimental front at 1000 yards. Usually the guns are functioned by a crank; but in one system, after the first discharge, the recoil is utilized to keep up the firing automatically. These weapons must be distinguished from the rapid-fire gun of which we now hear so much. The introduction of the latter, is due to the necessity of protecting every ship from the great offensive power given by the torpedo to small vessels of high speed. Machine guns are not effective against a swiftly moving torpedo boat until it is well within the danger zone of an attacked ship, and hence the need of a more powerful weapon which can destroy thin structures at long ranges. Much ingenuity has been expended upon its development, and there exist several types of rapid-fire guns which possess great accuracy of fire, continuity of discharge, good penetration at long range, and ability of following an object in motion from a movable platform. Beginning with a revolving cannon which threw shots of about two pounds weight, the type has advanced through smaller calibres until now the system has been applied to guns which may fairly be classed as armor-piercing. The largest one of these pieces in actual use is six inches in calibre, and has been fired, with 35 pounds of powder and a projectile weighing 100 pounds, at the rate of six aimed shots a minute. "There is a limit," writes Lieutenant Sutherland, United States navy, "to the use of fixed ammunition in rapid-fire guns, due to its increase in weight and length, and within that limit the combined weight of the charge, projectile, and cartridge-case should be such that one man can handle it with ease and rapidity, and can readily exert sufficient power to extract the empty cartridge-case after firing. To my mind, the limit is reached with a weight not exceeding sixty pounds, which is nearly that proposed for guns of about four-inch calibre." This is a great development in a little over ten years—to go from the rifled small-arm to projectiles weighing between sixty and seventy pounds.—[Lieutenant J. D. Jerrold Kelley, in Harper's Weekly.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION IN RHODE ISLAND.

Ostensibly a political battle for the control of the Democratic state convention, which is to be held in Providence on March 2, is being waged between the party leaders, divided as to their preference for Presidential candidates. While the question of whether Hill or Cleveland delegates are to be sent from Rhode Island to the national Democratic convention enters largely into this contest, the control of the entire party machine throughout the state is also involved, and this latter question is considered far more important that the selection of delegates upon which, however, it hinges. The Carroll-Brennan wing of the party, in addition to their desire to oppose the nomination of Cleveland, are extremely anxious to secure control of national affairs relating to the state through the medium of the Rhode Island members of the national Democratic committee. The presence of Mayor Honey of Newport in that position is extremely irritating to these gentlemen and their political friends, and a determined effort is being made to secure the election of delegates to the National Convention who will oppose Mr. Honey's desire to succeed himself as national committeeman. The failure of this scheme means the domination throughout the State of the factions and leaders who are opposed to Brennan, Carroll and Page, and the election of delegates pledged to vote for the nomination of Grover Cleveland for the Presidency. Opposed to these latter will be a ticket including some well known Democrats who, presumed to favor Cleveland, would be at least open to argument as to the advisability of the nomination of the ex-president, and the majority of whom certainly could be influenced to vote against the re-election of Colonel Honey. The plan to elect a straight Hill delegation has been abandoned, but its successor is meeting with equally determined opposition from the stalwart Cleveland forces.

The first gun in this interesting fight was fired at Newport on Friday night, when the caucuses to elect delegates to the city convention which will choose delegates to the state convention were held. Mayor Honey was victorious in the fight, and Newport's delegation will be solid for the selection of the city's mayor as delegate to the national convention. Considering the position of his mortal opponents, it is almost unnecessary to repeat Colonel Honey's announcement that he favors the nomination of Cleveland. So also is James McNally, practically forced into that position by the stand for Hill taken by the men who were partially, at least, responsible for his defeat in late municipal campaigns and elections. It is believed that Mr. Honey's opponent as delegate will be Nathaniel Church of Tiverton. Mr. Church is believed to be a Cleveland man, but Colonel Honey will be the candidate for delegate from Newport county of the genuine supporters of the ex-President.

From Bristol county it is believed that Mr. Christie of Bristol and Mr. Nichols of Warren will oppose each other. Here again it is considered that both favor Cleveland, and again Mr. Christie will receive the support of those pledged for the ex-President. Numerous others are mentioned from the various counties, though the slates have not as yet been completed. Richard B. Comstock and Edwin R. McGuinnessfare favorites of the Cleveland men in Providence county, while Hiram Howard, Mr. Brennan and Mr. Carroll are being discussed by the opposing forces. Mr. Carroll is likely to be opposed in the convention by Francis O'Reilly of Woonsocket. From other counties Davis S. Baker, George Hendrick, Senator Bartlett, Thomas Spencer, Mr. Dwight, Mr. Clark of Kingston and others are being discussed.

Although the slates have not been completed, suggestions of a willingness to compromise have been advanced to the Cleveland men by their opponents, but they have met with no consideration.

The Democratic nomination for governor is practically conceded to ex-Lieutenant Governor Wardwell, with David S. Baker or Senator Bartlett in second place. The former has the preference if he will accept. The Republicans are still in doubt, with a majority of the leaders in favor of the nomination of Speaker Capron. The latter evinces an unwillingness to be a candidate, however, and no new possibilities have been located.—[Providence Journal.

Insurance Against Storms.
That there is some risk to property from storms, is admitted. The danger may not be very great and so the cost of insuring against it is correspondingly small. There are just as many reasons for insuring against loss from the elements as from fire. The undersigned is prepared to issue policies for five years in one of the great Hartford fire insurance companies, at prices that must be entirely satisfactory.

HINTS ON THE MANAGEMENT OF SERVANTS.

You hire ignorant women, of low conceptions, giving them the price ignorance and stupidity are worth. You are astonished when you do not get ideas and feelings of which these women know nothing. When they do rise higher they are no longer willing to work for you in the same capacity.

We all get precisely what we give. If we are stingy in giving, be assured the stinginess will gain us nothing. We pay money for work, pound for pound. If we want human feeling besides, we can only get it by giving it ourselves.

If we want thoughtfulness for our interests from our servants, we must be thoughtful for their interests. If we want their sympathy in our need, we must give it to them in their need. If we want allowance made for faults and failings, we must offer them ours. We may have to explain to them what we are doing, and why; because such women seldom perceive the reason themselves. Those women have often to be treated like children. Motives have to be explained to them.

There are a few women, of course, who could not be managed this way, but there are very few. I have rarely seen a servant with whom, when I met her on the ground of like feelings, I could not do just as I pleased.

Once a woman objected to doing work the way I wished. Her own way, she thought, was easier, and she did not see why mine should be preferred. It is a common matter of disagreement, is it not?

"Maggie," said I, "last night you took your new dress to be made. Now put on your hat, and go down and tell your dressmaker to make it in any easy way to suit herself. Tell her it does not matter whether you like it or not. She can make it any way that comes handy."

"Indade an' I won't, ma'm," cried Maggie, indignant. "Sure I pay her good money for makin' it, an' haven't I a right to have it made to suit meself?"

"Of course you have," said I. "And if you are working for me, and you expect me to pay you good money for doing it, ought I not to be pleased instead of you?"

Maggie looked at me a minute; then she laughed. She never made another objection to doing things "my way." It is better to have a servant with quick perceptions than one who has graduated at all the cooking-schools in New York.

The mistresses who treat their servants this way get the best work and the heartiest good feeling.—[Harper's Bazar.

INDIANS IN THE REGULAR ARMY.

It is singular, then, that it was only last winter that the idea of employing our own Indians as regulars in our permanent establishment was seriously taken hold of by our War Department. It is true that for many years past the services of friendly tribes have been called into requisition in Indian wars. They have been used in such cases, however, almost exclusively as scouts and trailers, enlisted for the campaign only, as a rule, without serious organization or discipline, and without sympathy for a service of which they formed no permanent part.

Last year Lieutenant Casey of the Twenty-second Infantry, a dashing and able young officer, stationed then at Fort Keogh, Montana, conceived the idea of employing this Indian material on a more substantial and permanent basis. His idea was to enlist the Indians of the different tribes in separate troops or companies, and for definite periods of say a year, or six months. They were to be thoroughly drilled and disciplined, required to keep two pony mounts of serviceable quality, for which the government was to allow forage and extra pay, and to be allowed to continue in the service, by re-enlistment, during good behavior. This was intended to serve the double purpose of giving a leaven of civilization and military training to each of the tribes represented, and at the same time furnishing the army with a number of bodies of light irregular cavalry scattered among its Western stations. These levies were to be known as "scouts," but in arms, equipments, uniform, and drill they were to be assimilated as rapidly as possible to the condition of regulars. It will be seen at once where the difference lay between such troops as these, and the untrained and merely temporary bodies up to that time known as scouts to our army. Lieutenant Casey carried his views to Washington. He was entitled to the sole credit for his conception, and he urged his plans with all the earnestness of his enthusiastic nature. Fortunately he met with both attention and encouragement from Mr. Proctor, the Secretary of War. Ways and means were discussed, and Casey, in May, came back to Keogh happy in permission from the Secretary to raise a troop of one hundrd Cheyennes, to be enlisted on the conditions above named.—[Lieutenant S. C. Robertson, U. S. A., in Harper's Weekly.

A Sad Awakening.

"When in the dark, on thy soft hand I hung,
And heard the tempting syren of thy tongue—
What flames what darts—what anguish I endured,
But when the candle entered I was cured!"

Such complexions as so many of our young ladies possess—dull, pimply, and covered with sores and blackheads, is enough to cool the ardor of the warmest lover. To such young ladies we would say, that you can never have a soft, fair, smooth, attractive, kissable complexion, unless your blood is healthy and pure, for the condition of the blood decides the complexion. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will purify your blood, tone up your system, and drive away those distressing headaches and backache, from which you suffer periodically, and give you a complexion a lily or rose-leaf might envy.

THE NEWPORT DAILY NEWS,

Now in its forty-sixth year aims to be a model newspaper in every respect. Within the past few years many thousands of dollars have been spent in the better equipment of its plant, and in the development of new fields of enterprise. Its telegraphic service by the Associated Press comes by special wire, and is frequently supplemented by special despatches upon matters of local interest not covered by the regular service. Its collection of local news is thorough. Its general news and family miscellany is timely and is carefully edited. Its editorials aim to independence of party cliques and of merely personal issues or business considerations, and to support good government, local, state or national. The management has faith in Newport and in the paper, and believes that the better the interests of the former are served the better will be the support of the latter. After many years of constant endeavor it is pleasant to know that the Newport Daily News is now a welcome daily visitor to practically every home in Newport which can reasonably be expected ever to receive a daily paper. The people of Newport appreciate the value of the News, and those are the best prepared to judge of its superiority who remember best what the sheet has been or what other local papers are. Two editions are issued every afternoon; the second is delivered by carrier to subscribers. Price 12 cents a week, payable to carrier; 50 cents a month or $6.00 a year.

It has come to occupy the front rank among the daily newspapers of the state.—[Westerly Tribune.

For nearly half a century the News has been a daily visitor at Newport homes, during which time it has more than quadrupled its circulation and taken rank first among suburban dailies.—[Newport Enterprise.

Prosperity due to enterprise and careful attention to the wants of its readers.—[Providence Journal.

The leading paper of that favorite seaside resort.—[Brockton Enterprise.

Always a good and influential newspaper, was never better than now.—[Providence Dispatch.

The bright and newsy pages of the Newport News are more attractive than ever.—[Boston Record.

Has well earned the popularity and confidence it enjoys. It is an honest, independent newspaper.—[New London Telegraph.

An entirely new dress, which is one of the best fitting and appropriate that could be secured.—[New York Herald.

One of the most prosperous newspapers in Rhode Island, and one of the most enterprising.—[Pawtucket Times

An ably edited modern newspaper, such as the cultured state capital can, and evidently does, appreciate.—Woonsocket Patriot.

Is among the best looking of our exchanges, and is a paper of exceptional ability.—[New Bedford Mercury.

Is independent in politics, consequently is one of our most valued exchanges.—[Pawtuxet Valley Gleaner.

An important factor in the prosperity of the City by the Sea.—[Pawtucket Gazette and Chronicle.

That bright paper, the Newport News.—[Boston Daily Globe.

—At the meeting of the Barnard Club, composed of the teachers of the principal schools of Rhode Island, held in Providence Saturday, Mr. F. E. Thompson, principal of the Rogers High School, was elected a member.

—William S. Sherman has sold to David B. Reeve the estate bounded south, 84 feet, on Bay View avenue; west, 50 feet, on Warner street; north, 48 feet, on land of James H. Hart and east, 46 feet, on land of Charles E. Spooner.

—The body, known as No. 10, taken from the ruins of Hotel Royal, New York, has been identified by means of portions of the underclothing as that of R. J. A. W. Burgess of Brooklyn, who was employed at Klunder's branch store in this city last season.

—Two papers of special interest will be presented to the members of the Unity Club Tuesday evening; the first by Mr. C. D. Mueller on "Gambetta and Republicanism in France; the second upon "The Restriction of Foreign Immigration" by Mr. F. G. Harris.

—Mr. S. B. Brewster, whose wife died last week, contemplated reaching here Saturday and proposed, as his daughters were Newporters, to reside here permanently. Yesterday Mr. H. H. Young received a telegram saying that Mr. Brewster was critically ill with pneumonia.

—Mr. Foxhall Keene, who knocked out most of his front teeth and otherwise damaged himself, two weeks ago, while riding to hounds in County Meath, Ireland, got on to a horse Saturday for the first time since the accident and participated in a hunt over the same course.

—The supreme court was formally opened this morning at 11 o'clock, the clerk, stenographer and Deputy Sheriff Tilley being present. Mr. Tilley officiated as crier, and after opening, the court adjourned to meet according to law. Thus ends the September term of 1891.

—Mr. Thomas Burlingham sold at auction today five shares of the Newport National Bank to H. C. Stevens, Jr., at 108.25; five shares to Henry C. Stevens, Jr., at 108.87½; six shares to T. P. Peckham at 110.25, and twenty shares of the Union National Bank to B. B. H. Sherman at 101.

—A. O'D Taylor has sold for Arthur W. Chase, to Enos Hayward the farm of from seven to eighty acres, situated on the West Main road, Middletown, and bounded on the south by lands of Anthony Stewart and the estate of the late Horace P. Underwood, on the west by the waters of Coddington Cove, on the north by land of the late William B. Chase, and on the east by West Main road.

—The Democratic city convention, whose members were elected Friday evening at the ward caucuses, will meet at the State House at 8 o'clock this evening to nominate twelve delegates to attend the Democratic state convention to be held in Providence on Wednesday, March 2, and to select a ticket for senator and five representatives from Newport to the state legislature.

—Miss Caldwell, whose independent stand regarding financial matters caused a severance of proposed matrimonial relations with Prince Murat, and who recently gave $300,000 to the Washington University, is at St. Augustine, on her way to Cuba. Bishop Spaulding of Iowa is one of her party. Miss Caldwell will occupy her cottage on Kay street early in the season.

—Father Cook, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Fall River, yesterday started a movement for the erection, in that church, of a suitable marble memorial to the late Father Kelley, the founder of the parish, and whose early death was undoubtedly due to his hard work in connection with establishing the parish and building the church. Father Kelley, before going to St. Patrick's parish, was assistant to Dr. Grace at St. Mary's in this city.

—The schedule of the winter cruise of United States training ship Portsmouth, Commander C. D. Sigsbee, is as follows:—Sail from Barbadoes, March 6; from Port of Spain, April 5; from St. Thomas, April 15. Until February 27 mail should be addressed to the ship, care United States Consul, Port of Spain, Trinidad; from March 25 to April 10, to the ship, care United States Consul, St. Thomas, Danish West Indies; after April 10, to the ship at Fort Monroe, Va. The mail of February 27 for Barbadoes leaves Newport News, Va., on that date.

—The New York Herald says:—"As an outcome of the Bermuda season of last year another engagement is announced, that of Miss Bessie French to Colonel the Honorable W. Eaton, of the Grenadier Guards, who was sent out from England with the refactory troops. Colonel Eaton is a son of Lord Cheylesmere, who was one of the jubilee peers. His father was the member of Parliament from Coventry and a great silk manufacturer. The peerage was given him out of consideration of what he had done for commerce. Miss French is the daughter of Mr. F. O. French. She went abroad with Mrs. Edward Tuck last fall and her engagement has been announced by letters quite recently. Colonel Eaton's mother was the daughter of Mr. T. L. Harman of New Orleans. Mrs. French and her daughter were here last week.

—The funeral of the late Rev. Dr. Wallace, who died in this city last week, was held from St. Michael's Church, Providence, of which the deceased was for so many years pastor, on Saturday morning. A solemn high mass of requiem was sung at 10 o'clock, Bishop Harkins being celebrant, and nearly every parish in the diocese being represented by one or more priests. Rev. Dr. Grace of St. Mary's Church preached the sermon, taking as his text "It is a holy and a wholesome thought to pray for the dead, that they may be loosed from their sins." During his remarks Dr. Grace paid a warm and affectionate tribute to the deceased, who was for so many years his warm personal friend. It has not yet been decided whether to bury the body in Providence or at Father Wallace's old home in Nova Scotia.

MR. FAIR'S SUDDEN DEATH.

Mr. James G. Fair, Jr., eldest son of ex-Senator Fair, whose sudden death in San Francisco on Friday has been reported, returned from an extended trip to the East on Wednesday last and spent Thursday evening with his father at the Lick House, in San Francisco. He passed some time in reading on retiring to his room, then suddenly fell with a cry of pain. Physicians were summoned, but he died shortly after the attack. He was born in Virginia, Nev., and was twenty-nine years of age. Mr. Fair is now the only member of the family on the Pacific coast, Miss Virginia Fair being in New York with her sister, Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, and Charles Fair, a younger son of the Senator, being in Europe.

A BIG SALE OF OLD COLONY STOCK.

Bidding for the 2000 shares of Old Colony stock at the auction room in Boston Saturday was lively. It started at 165, against 167 bid, ¼ asked Friday, with 167¾ paid for two shares. The bidding raised the price to 168¾, at which Messrs. Kidder, Peabody & Co. became purchasers. The same firm was a co-purchaser of the last previous lot of 2000 shares sold. The lot brought 165¾. The sale was less the March dividend of 1¾ per cent. After the sale the stock rose to 169¾ for twenty-five shares at the Boston Stock Exchange. From the sale the road realizes a premium of $1377750, a nice sum with which to enrich the principal of the capital stock and of the company's bonds.

THE NAVAL TRAINING SCHOOL.

Orders have recently been issued to enlist boys for the Naval Apprentice Training Station from 14 to 17 years of age. Heretofore the ages have been from 14 to 18 years, and, as the boys have to serve until 21, candidates have been in the habit, when enlisting, of giving their age as 17 years and some months. This was done in order to have as short a time as possible to serve. Very many of the boys enlisted start at seventeen years and eleven months. Now that the new order is in effect, all over seventeen have to be rejected. This has, apparently, affected the enlistments, somewhat, but soon the boys will probably adapt themselves to the new order of things.

It is reported that on several occasions of late attempts have been made by parents or guardians to have boys shipped, who are incorrigible and have failed to amount to anything in civil life; in other words to use Uncle Sam's training school for sailors as a reformatory. The officers in charge of the station are constantly on the lookout for such attempts and when any are discovered the candidates are rejected, or sent home as soon as the facts are discovered. It is expected that the old rule of sending boys who prove too wild for the quiet of home or civil life to sea, to give them their full of activity, will continue to bring to the training ships many boys of good families who would not be sent were their parents able to get them to settle down into business life. These boys prove to be good sailors, and some have in times past risen to fame through the very qualities of activity and daring that caused them to be sent to sea. So it is now in the apprentice system; some of the best boys, those who have risen by their own efforts to the top rank in their classes, and have shown the greatest aptitude for their duties, have been boys of this class. To associate with these and other boys who enter the service with the expectation of having hard work and the intention of doing it, boys who belong to the idle or vicious class, would be a serious mistake, and the officers are careful to exclude all such as soon as their presence or disposition is discovered.

THE YOUNGER OFFICERS OF THE ARMY.

To the Editor of the Daily News:—

The article in the News on the 11th instant from the Boston Journal under the caption "The Officers of the United States Army" is misleading. It is calculated to give a wrong impression of Colonel Larned's article in The Forum and of the professional status of the younger officers of the army.

Colonel Larned's article treats of our system of military education and especially of the undergraduate course at West Point. His remarks beyond this are of a casual nature only. In truth, Colonel Larned is not in position to speak with any measure of authority as to post-graduate instruction or instruction given at army posts, by reason of the fact that his service has been for some years confined to the Military Academy as Professor of Drawing, and he knows strictly nothing of his own experience of army life proper.

It is not believed that the Forum article is open to the construction given it by the Boston Journal. Colonel Larned himself would be the first to disavow the intention of presenting the younger officers of the army in any such light to civilians. As a matter of fact it is an injustice to the younger officers of the army to have the idea abroad that they are below the standard of foreign officers in professional attainments. General Sherman and General Upton, after traveling over Europe a few years ago with an eye open particularly to such matters, on separate occasions, testified to the equality of our younger officers in professional knowledge and attainments with the best officers of Europe, and there certainly has been no falling off since the time of the visits of the two generals to Europe. It is believed, moreover, that this claim is abundantly confirmed by the character of our professional publications, both books and periodicals.

Perhaps, however, the best evidence on this point, as it is the most recent and is altogether unbiased, is to be found in the last annual report of Secretary of War Proctor to the President of the United States. He says:—

"The character and attainments of the older officers of the army, who made their records during the great war is too well known to require any mention; but I wish to pay a well-deserved tribute to the young officers, who have not had the great opportunity of their seniors. Nothing in my connection with the army has gratified me so much as the general high character and professional attainments of the younger officers of the army, who have made the most of their opportunities under the conditions of comparative peace. It is upon them that we must depend in the future, and they can be implicitly relied upon to be equal to the requirements of any emergency."

WOLF DRIVES.

The Kansas "Wolf Drive" is a great institution, for it satisfies the natural craving of man to kill something without exposing himself to danger, and it is therefore exceedingly popular. In the townships of Walnut, Sherman, Grant and Crawford wolves and foxes, which multiply alarmingly fast, have been driven by the severe cold this winter to acts of depredation surprising for their boldness and ferocity. The farmers have risen up and organized for the purpose of clearing the country of the four-footed raiders. Upwards of four thousand men engage in the wolf-drive, and they beat over a tract ten miles square. The affair is conducted with military exactness and discipline. A general is chosen, and he in turn picks out his staff and battalion and company commanders. The signal for starting is a fusillade of shots fired by the leaders of each squad. With one thousand men on each side of the square there are one hundred men to the mile, or one at intervals of about fifty feet. The lines are supposed to move one mile each half-hour. Every man has a horn or a drum, and his instructions are to make as much noise as he can. Wolves are not to be killed until rounded up in the common centre. They may be clubbed into a run if necessary. At a distance of one mile from the centre the report of a cannon announces that the battle is about to begin, and the forces are assigned and put in readiness. Only such of the hunters as are designated by the general carry firearms; the others are armed with clubs to prevent the beasts from escaping. A great number of wolves are often rounded up, and when the word is given they are picked off by the appointed sharpshooters. While the "drive" is the occasion for a good deal of fun, killing is the business of the day, and the best marksmen attend to this.—[New York Evening Post.

BOSTON A GROWN CITY.

No one who chances to be out late o'nights just now fails to remark that the city is full of people. Not a house but shows its sign of life within, and tramp of feet is heard echoing along the pavements of the quietest localities. At the hour when the theatres let out and the rush of carriages carrying people home or taking the gay world to its balls and parties begins, Boston seems alive enough, and more like a great city than at any other hour of the twenty-four. It has not as yet assumed the metropolitan air of dissipation, but it seems frisky, and quite capable of shaking off forever that "nine o'clock" propriety which has clung to its social observances for two centuries or more. With this increase of worldliness and late hours has come the attendant wickedness and danger to individual safety. Tramps and stragglers, footpads and beggars have become a menace to the independence of women who have never hesitated to go and come if duty or business called them at any hour of day or night. One of the pleasures of living in a city of Boston's dimensions has been the freedom vouchsafed its respectable citizens of the feminine gender. Ladies have been not afraid to go about by themselves to the theatres and other public places, and it has been a jewel in the crown of this commonwealth that those who respected themselves received the utmost courtesy—that of being permitted to remain unobserved. Of late an element which is called "foreign," for want of a better term, has begun to show its hoof in the community, and it is feared the good old times of security must soon be forced to give way to the evil consequences of a grown up city.—[Entre Nous, in Boston Herald.

Some English people staying temporarily here, teach us a lesson in comfort and patience. Each carries a campstool under his arm, and when waiting for a car or in a shop, calmly unfolds it and seats himself. When this is done on the curbstone, and two of the party are ladies, the act causes the passing crowd to stare and smile. But the independence of the Britisher enables him to bear surprise and derision with imperturbability.—[Boston Herald.

AN OLD STORY.
If good, people will never tire of hearing.

It is an old story that the "C B" Corsets
are the best of any in the market. They possess more actual merit than any other make; they are modelled exactly like the French corsets they fit better and wear longer than most any other corsets. The sale on them throughout the United States is immense. Price is as low as on inferior makes. We have them at the following prices:
75c., $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $2.25.
A trial of either grade will convince every lady the truth of above assertion.
We also keep a full line of Thompson's, Warner's,
Ball's Health Preserving and Kabo Corsets Misses' and Children's Corsets, Ladies', Misses and Children's Waists.
If you are looking for a 50c. Corset, we have the best in the market, made of best Coutil, heavy bound, extra length and good shape.
